PAN-AMERICAN BONDS BEING MADE FIRMER

Presidents-Elect of Colombia and Brazil Pay Visits to White House

ILL-FEELING ON WANE

Hoover Good Will Trip Important Step in New U. S. Foreign Policy

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1930 by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington — (AP) — Relations between the United States and South America which attracted much attention when Herbert Hoover was president-elect are undergoing at the moment a significant transformation.

The incident which emphasizes the change is the visit of the president-elect of Colombia and the forthcoming tour of the president-elect of Brazil, Doctor Olaya Herrera who has been elected president of Colombia is still the Colombian minister to the United States in which post he has served for nearly eight years. But he departs now for his own country to assume the leadership at a time when relations between Colombia and the United States are better than they have been in a quarter of a century. For many years the ill-feeling over the partition of Panama lingered and was not altogether erased when a treaty was signed paying twenty-five million dollars to Colombia. Doctor Olaya Herrera has worked steadily in the last few years to bring about a better understanding between Colombia and the United States and he has succeeded. He decided to spend his pre-inauguration in America establishing closer contacts and outlining future policies so as to assure American capital of a square deal in Colombia.

LOOKS FOR PROSPERITY

Situated at the entrance to the Panama canal and on the direct line of travel to both coasts of South America, Colombia with its vast natural resources is looking forward to an era of unprecedented economic expansion. The president-elect admires the United States and is himself a progressive statesman of the new school in South American affairs. Brazil has always been traditionally the friend of the United States.

Los Angeles — (AP) — Mystery surrounding the death of Police Chief George M. Doney of Lynwood, a suburb, has deepened with discovery of a note asking the district attorney's office to drop investigation of a graft charge made against the Lynwood police department.

Officers investigating the death of Chief Doney, who was found shot to death in his automobile, declared it a "plain case of suicide."

"I told you a pack of lies," Doney's note said. "All the men on my department are O. K. I was the crook so drop that statement."

The district attorney said he would continue his investigation.

NINTH VICTIM ADDED TO GANGSTERS' LIST

Chicago — (AP) — Gang firebrands notched a ninth victim of weekend nipping on their muskets today with the death of Joseph Ferrari, 26-year-old Sicilian, who was one of three men shot down Saturday night in a renewed outbreak of hostilities.

Hoover Says Pension View Not Changed

Shouldn't Alter Principles of Last 70 Years, President States

Washington — (AP) — President Hoover said today he had not changed his opinion that the Spanish-American war veterans pension bill enacted over his veto yesterday by congress was unwise.

"I favored a liberalization of the Spanish war veteran pensions," he said, "because they have not been on a parity with other services, but I have not changed my opinion that it should have been worked out in such a way that rich men, or men having substantial incomes, should not draw pensions from the government."

"I have made no suggestion at any time of a pauper provision against veterans or anything akin thereto."

"I do not believe we should alter the principles which have been held for Civil war veterans all these 70 years, requiring that men claiming pensions should have at least 30 days service."

"Further than this, I do not believe it is right to change our national policy and to call upon the nation to pay disability allowances to men who have or who may have earned their money by their own industry."

"I have received numerous communications from veterans supporting these views."

PASSED OVER VETO

After President Hoover vetoed the bill last week, both the house and senate enacted it into law yesterday by large majorities.

Authorizing a more liberal pensions basis, it would benefit approximately 114,000 veterans of the Spanish war, the Philippine insurrection and the China relief expedition. It would cost the government approximately $11,500,000 annually.

It provides higher rates for those who served 90 days during the Spanish war, or less than 90 days with a discharge for disability incurred in line of duty.

The disability rates range from $20 a month for veterans one-tenth disabled to $60 for total disabilities.

When a veteran requires a regular attendant he would receive $72 a month. The rates of pension on age provide $30 a month when the veteran is 62 years old, $40 at 68; $50 at 72, and $60 at 75.

FORMER SUB CHASER HELD AS RUM RUNNER

Norfolk, Va. — (AP) — Laden with whiskey, a one time American sub chaser seized off the Virginia coast was tied up at the coast guard base here today and her crew of twelve were in custody pending federal investigation.

The vessel, now named the "Metmuel," was believed to be of French registry. One thousand cases of liquor was aboard.

Dickinson Beats Hammill In Iowa Senatorial Race

Des Moines, Iowa — (AP) — Congressman L. J. Dickinson, pledging support to President Hoover and the pending tariff bill, early today held nearly a two to one lead over Gov. John Hammill for the Republican senatorial nomination in Monday's primary election.

Hammill conceded defeat in a congratulatory telegram to Dickinson. Senator Daniel F. Steck was chosen without opposition to bear the Democratic standard in the November election. He made no campaign.

With more than two-thirds of the precincts reported, unofficial totals showed Dickinson has 138,726 votes. Returns from 1730 of 2,433 precincts gave Hammill 79,243 votes. He had campaigned against the tariff measure, contending its agricultural rates were not in proportion to the new industrial schedules.

Frank J. Lang, Senator Smith W. Brookhart's former campaign manager, had a total of 27,443 and W. O. Payne, veteran editor, trailed with 3,714.

Dan W. Turner of Orono, state income tax advocate, was far ahead.

Plenty Action on This Proposition

Like anything else, if you want to be a valet to a garden, you've gotta know your onions. Mrs. Thomas Hill, Junction Hotel, put the proposition for her a good one. Well, no sooner had we sent out S. O. S. thru Classifieds, when applications began pouring in. Honestly we had no idea that so many men in this city wanted to assist Lady Nature in beautifying the landscape. Mrs. Hill had actually so many calls that she had a hard time picking the right man. So folks, if you need a gardener or any other form of specialized labor the Classifieds is the place to drag 'em to light.

CANNON AND SENATORS IN SHARP CLASH

Bishop Flatly Refuses to Answer Question Put by Lobby Probers

Washington — (AP) — Bishop James Cannon, Jr., today flatly declined pendants launched a new offensive to answer a question about his political activities in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, in adjourning the committee, informed the bishop that "of course you will have to take responsibility" for declining to answer.

Cannon replied the committee's investigation of him was "persecution."

This stirred the crowded committee room into laughter, applause and hisses.

"I cannot but get the implication in that statement," said Walsh. Cannon hastily replied: "I do not charge you, senator, with persecution."

Just previously the bishop had charged that vet and Catholic interference had tried to discredit him. Walsh is a Catholic and a dry.

Asked in particular about organization of the anti-Smith movement at the famous Asheville meeting, the Southern Methodist leader, fresh from excommunication at the hands of his church conference, put it up to the committee itself to decide whether he had grounds for objecting.

ANSWERS OTHER QUESTIONS

For time being, the question went unsettled, as committee members argued with the witness. Previously he had testified freely as to his work as head of the Southern Methodist board which supports prohibition.

But when the questioning verged to the 1928 campaign, he said: "This attempt on the part of this committee to go beyond its powers and to investigate my anti-Smith activities is clearly not only political but personal and because I believe it to be an effort to attack me and in some way to impair my influence, as the vet and Roman Catholic."

ZEPPELIN REPORTED MAKING GOOD SPEED

London — (AP) — A radio dispatch to the Associated Press from the master of the steamship America says: "Passed the Graf Zeppelin at 1:30 p. m. G. M. T. north 40.22, west 58.11. Flying 2,400 feet high. Fine weather."

Homeward bound with a bit in her teeth, the Graf Zeppelin today was speeding east over the north Atlantic at approximately 90 miles an hour.

Taking off from the naval station at Lakehurst, N. J., at 9:12 (E. S. T.) last night, she reported her position at 12 hours later as 40:18 north, 57:30 west, approximately 780 miles due east of New York.

From 5 a. m. to 9 o'clock a. m. she had traveled 353 miles, which would place her average speed at 89.7 miles an hour. Although the message did not say, it was presumed she was favored by a tail wind as her average cruising speed is around 60 miles an hour.

After soaring over New York City and Long Island last night in a farfarell wheel, she headed north-east up the north Atlantic coast. Then sometime after 5 o'clock she changed her course toward the southeast and Seville, her first stop on her way home to Friedrichshafen.

COALITION RENEWS ATTACK ON TARIFF

Boah Hits Senate Conference for Abandoning Debuture Amendment

Washington — (AP) — The coalition of Democrats and Republican independents launched a new offensive against the tariff bill today after Senator Shortridge, Republican, California said the measure was "sound and should be adopted."

Senator Borah, Republican Independent, Idaho, criticized the senate conference for abandoning the debuture amendment. They "voluntarily surrendered" on this proposition, he contended, without discussing it with the house managers in the conference for reconciliation of differences.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, attacked the work of the conference in which he and Shortridge participated. He said there was "a race between the senate and house conferees to see which could recede first on lower rates."

Harrison described the work on the chemical schedule as a "sweet story," and described Senator Smoot as the "sugar-coated senator from Utah."

He said Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts, "always had a stack of correspondence from special interests."

Treadway would "whisper grace" fully in the ear of the senator from Utah," Harrison said, and "immediately he (Smoot) would suggest that we recede."

Senator Gillett, Republican, Massachusetts, asked Harrison to explain the session at which the duty was fixed on long staple cotton wool on the free list. Harrison responded he would do that "later."

HUNT 20 BANDITS WHO KILLED 2 IN MEXICO

Bisbee, Ariz. — (AP) — Federal troops today were reported in the mountains near Cananea, Mexico, seeking a gang of 20 bandits who yesterday killed Charles Koehler, 60-year-old American, and a Mexican policeman, and later burned Koehler's home.

Koehler was slain at the Silver Plume mine, 25 miles south of Cananea. E. Howells, superintendent, said he believed the raiders were former employees of the Manzana mine, where the American victim formerly was foreman, and were actuated by a desire for revenge.

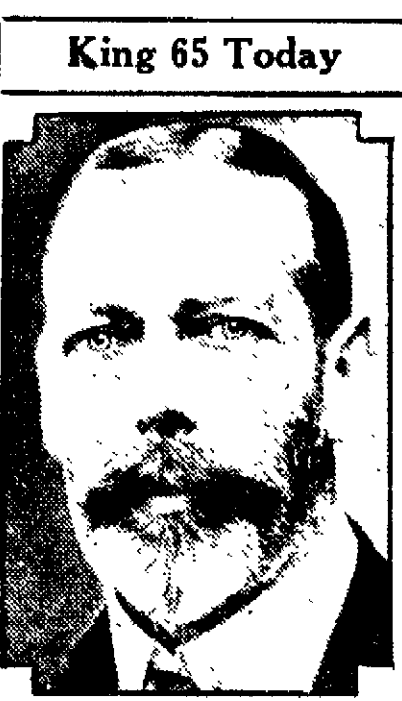

In a brisk skirmish with the troops one of the outlaws was killed. Koehler's body was found a short distance from the ruins of his home. Howells' residence and the home of Frank Whalen, mine official, were not molested.

Stealing into the small camp, the outlaws first went to the policeman's house, killing the officer and seizing his ammunition.

2 RECAPTURED AFTER BREAK IN MICHIGAN

Inmates Armed With Knives and Razors—Win Freedom by Death Threats

Ionia, Mich. — (AP) — Thirteen insane criminals, five of them slayers, armed themselves with knives and razors, imprisoned two guards, threatened the night supervisor with death and escaped from the State Hospital for Criminal Insane early today.

Two of the fugitives were recaptured on highways a few miles from the institution within a few hours, while city, county and state officers engaged in a widespread search for the others.

Before leaving the institution the inmates opened cells releasing 24 prisoners but none of the others joined in the break. They also cut telephone wires.

Dr. Perry C. Robertson, superintendent of the hospital blamed the break on the inmates' lack of discipline. He said the inmates had been given a "warning" in a ward, rather than in separate cells.

FORCE THEIR RELEASE

The night supervisor, Gene Owen was called to the ward on the third floor by U. S. Davis and Bert Hill, guards, at 2:30 a. m. after the latter had been told by an inmate that some of the men there were trying to escape. As they opened the door the three men were set upon by the prisoners who had armed themselves with improvised knives and with razors. The two guards were locked in a washroom. Owen was taken through the building to the front gate.

One of the men held a knife to Owen's throat and told Guy Carbaugh, guard at the gate, that Owen would be killed unless the gate was opened. Carbaugh let them out. They took Owen outside the gate before scattering in different directions.

A guard was dispatched to Ionia, a mile and a half away to notify Sheriff William French, who started the search aided by officers of other counties and state police.

The two men recaptured were Ivan Cordas, Detroit killer and Charles Kenney, committed to Detroit for robbery.

FARMERS ALARMED

Farmers of Ionia kept their women folk and children behind securely closed doors today while they aided officers in the search.

One of the first steps taken by Sheriff French and his deputies after they learned of the break was to telephone to farm houses throughout the county.

Forest Fire Continues To Threaten Large Ontario Area

FOUR THOUGHT DEAD, OTHERS ARE MISSING

Several Small Communities Can Be Saved Only by Rain, Foresters Say

BULLETIN
Port Arthur, Ont.—(AP)—Wellcome rain beat down on Port Arthur and the Thunder Bay district at midday, dampening heat-scoured areas where brush and forest fires have burned for two days. Port Arthur's fire hazard was believed to be averted. Fires near Hurkett, Flint, McKenzie, Beck, Siding and Onion Lake were said to be fairly well under control.

Port Arthur, Ont.—(AP)—With four persons believed dead, several others unaccounted for and numerous homesteads wiped out, rangers and volunteers today were battling a forest fire which threatened this town of 3,500 on the northwest shore of Lake Superior.

Flames, driven across hundreds of miles of timberland and underbrush by winds of gale force, reached Brent Park, and many residents had abandoned their homes before the progress of the fire was checked.

The most serious condition prevailed in the vicinity of Hurkett, 35 miles east of here, where William Melensky, his wife and two children were believed to have perished when flames swept over their homestead.

Hundreds of acres in that locality had been burned over with the destruction of farmhouses and buildings. Rescue parties brought out a number of women and children whose farm homes had been destroyed.

A gang of 21 workmen was cut off by the flames at a camp of the Provincial Paper company north of Hurkett. Efforts to reach them by airplane were frustrated by the dense smoke.

RAIN NEEDED BADLY
Foresters said that unless rain falls soon there was little hope of saving small communities in the path of the fire. Additional men and equipment were ordered into the area.

Across the lake in the vicinity of Sault Ste. Marie rangers were fighting brush fires in three districts. A blaze west of Michipicoten falls was the only one causing anxiety.

The Ontario forestry department received word that the village of Dymont, 33 miles east of Dryden in the western part of the province, had been abandoned when a forest fire swept toward the community beyond control of a force of rangers and volunteers.

Women and children were sent out of the village by train while the men remained behind to continue their fight against the flames.

The village of Robinson, 50 miles east of Sioux lookout, also was evacuated.

Paul Garten, a pilot for the Western Canada Airways, was missing today after his plane was wrecked in an attempted landing on a lake at Allanwater, an air base. He was believed to have drowned. He had been engaged in forestry patrol duty in the vicinity of Sioux lookout which has been threatened with destruction for four days.

RAIN CURBS FIRES
Calumet, Mich.—(AP)—A heavy downfall of rain early this morning brought under control three forest fires, two of them burning in virgin timber in this district of upper Michigan.

The largest, near Sidnaw, swept through an area a mile by a half-mile in area. One hundred men remained on guard as it continued to smolder.

One near Pines Point, in a valuable stand of pine, was almost under control when rain completed the work.

A third, and smaller fire near the Portage ship canal, was quenched by the downpour.

LIONS HEAR REPORTS ON STATE CONVENTION

Reports on the state convention of the club at Sheboygan last Monday and Tuesday were given at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club at the hotel Monday afternoon. Reports were read by E. A. ## BUILDING PERMITS Building permit was granted to W. W. Holland, building inspector, for a new house to be built on W. W. Spencer.

Assistant Prof

Ralph O. Nafziger, editor of the University of Wisconsin press bulletin for the last two and a half years, has been appointed assistant professor of journalism to succeed Kenneth E. Olson, who goes to the University of Minnesota next year. Mr. Nafziger, who has had a wide newspaper experience, is well known to state editors through his talks to meetings of the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League.

MODIFY PERMIT TO CONSTRUCT NEW PORCH

The building permit to construct a porch granted Martin Williams, 1416 N. Division-st., by the board of appeals was modified by the same body at a meeting held at city hall Monday night. The permit was protested by George Misterek, a neighbor, and after an inspection trip it was decided to modify the plans.

The appeal of Nelson Delfosse to build a garage at 216 S. Mason-st was granted.

Guns Blaze Again Despite Roundup By Chicago Police

Chicago.—(AP)—An epidemic of murder—eight in three days, with six persons dangerously wounded—today was treated with the police roundup an intensive, citywide roundup of bad men.

More than 200 persons, including three who are listed among the crime commission's "public enemies," had been arrested at dawn, with police squads still deployed throughout the city. Even as the squads spread over the city, guns blazed again, this time at the rear of the fashionable Belmont hotel.

Several persons saw the flash of the guns in the north side alley and heard the shots. Guests in the hotel were awakened by the roar of the guns, but no victim was found. It was a gun attack like the one last week in which the victim, after being shot down, was carted away by his attackers.

Police Commissioner Russell, ordering the roundup of gangsters, hoodlums and suspicious characters, concentrated his men in the Seilian sections. Two of the eight gun victims in the last three days have been Seilians, and several others have been wounded.

Among the 200 arrested as first fruits of the roundup were Jack McGinn (called the machine-gunner of the Capone gang); James Belcastro, and Rocco Panelli—three "public enemies."

Stego said he had learned that a duel to the death between Capone men and cohorts of George (Dugs) Moran was in the making it was this knowledge that prompted the police roundup.

In the deputy commissioner's opinion, the recent slayings were traceable to the murder May 25, of Peter Plescia. That slaying, he said, broke the peace pact between the gangs, and war was renewed.

At the bottom of most of the gunnery, however, is beer. Stego believes—the conflict between rival beer rings to gain control of lucrative territory.

The condition of George Druggan and his companion, Mrs. Vivian McGinnis, wounded in the "little massacre" at Fox Lake early Sunday when three men were killed, remained critical early today. Each has refused to talk.

COUNCIL MAY GET NEW WIDENING PETITIONS

No matters of particular importance are scheduled for the meeting of the common council Wednesday night, although it is rumored that a second petition for the widening of Appleton-st and perhaps Oneida-st will be brought in.

The Appleton-st petition was turned down at the last meeting of the common council by a 7 to 5 vote. The widening of Oneida-st was discussed in informal meeting but never came to a vote in a regular council meeting.

MISS AMERICA OF '27 WINS HONORS IN H. S.

Joliet, Ill.—(AP)—"Miss America of 1927," who is Lois Delander to the home folks, will graduate Thursday night from high school, with honors. Following her election at Atlantic City, Miss Delander deserted school for the stage. She was a junior when she was awarded recognition as "Miss America." Later, in order to promote her ambition to become an artist, Miss Delander returned to complete her high school course. She is 19 years old.

The street and bridge committee met at 8 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Matters referred to it at the last meeting of the committee were:

"Greater This-and-That" Helps Swell Population Of Larger Cities

Washington.—(AP)—A new and modern concept of a city—that it is the sum of itself and all its suburbs, commercially speaking—has brought an avalanche of requests for announcements by the census bureau of "greater this-and-so."

These letters may result in a separate listing of Greater Miami, Greater Cleveland, Greater Louisville, Greater San Francisco and others so that the city of today may be considered from its "trade territory" aspect as well as according to its geographical boundary lines and political entity.

Census Director William M. Steuart today said he intended to give the cities the advantage of announcements of the "larger community" which indicates the "buying power," insofar as it is possible for him to take such action.

The "trade territory" theory of cities was precipitated rather violently into the 1930 census by the bitter argument which arose among the southern cities over the "Greater Atlanta" census figure claimed as Atlanta's population under the act of Aug. 17, 1929, by the Georgia legislature. This act added to Atlanta the boroughs of Avondale Estates, College Park, Decatur, East Point and Hopeville without destrouing their political entities and police powers. Louisville, Ky., among cities protesting this action, argued she would have to reach across the Ohio river into the state of Indiana, to put herself on an equal footing with Atlanta in annexation of suburbs—and obvious impossibility.

Washington, D. C., was mentioned by the census supervisor as another city penalized by insurmountable boundary barriers. The capital city cannot claim credit for much of her growth of the past decade, since it has been in residential suburbs in the states of Virginia and Maryland.

"And yet for practical purposes, it's all Washington," said Steuart. He pointed to Pueblo, Colo., as a city which cannot receive a fair showing through its census because of irregular boundary lines. This was due to a state law permitting factories to settle down close to the city limits without paying city taxes. The city grew all around these industrial centers, which still remained "outside the city limits."

Ten years ago Pueblo's mayor made a personal trip to Washington to see what could be done about it and learned that the incorporation would have to be done at home.

Declaring that "for business purposes the north and south banks of the Arkansas river are one community," Little Rock, Ark., has asked that North Little Rock, 19,419 and Little Rock, 81,657, be announced as "Greater Little Rock," population 101,037.

Macon, Ga., asked announcement of "Greater Macon," 63,967, instead of the Macon borough figure 53,866, under the same Georgia law claimed as the basis for Atlanta's larger figure.

Cleveland, Ohio, 1930 population 901,482, announced "a strong movement for annexation of all suburbs," pointing out that Cleveland lost its place as fifth city of the country to Los Angeles, "which by annexation and natural growth is estimated to have reached 1,400,000." Cleveland claimed for her "greater" figure all Cuyahoga-co., a 1,197,818 total.

Miami, Fla., reporting an increase of 272.1 per cent making her population 110,025 also mentioned that Miami Beach had won by 906 per cent and that "Greater Miami" could claim 128,463 inhabitants.

San Francisco, reporting her own 625,874 population, did not neglect to mention an indicated population of about 1,350,000 for the "San Francisco metropolitan area, including San Mateo, Alameda and Marin-counties, and Palo Alto, Vallejo, Benecia, and other bay points."

Truck letters were given to John Reeve, Herbert Zimdars, Edward Steenacker, Delmont Bradford, William Foote, Gerard Hecker, John Babino, Jim Noller, Emmett Mortell, Warren Dattley, Roland Wolfgram, Lawrence Oosterhaus.

Effie Arps and Marie Krause were awarded Girls' Athletic association awards.

Stanley Norton, representing the national honorary society at Lawrence college, Eta Sigma Phi, presented bronze medals to Mary Stilt and Ethel Schenck, fourth year Latin students who have had "A's" in Latin all year.

NO APPLETON PEOPLE AT LEAGUE MEETING

The city will send no Appleton representative to the thirty-second annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Marinette on June 11, 12 and 13. Thirty-three new members have joined the league this year, bringing the membership up to 250 cities, villages and towns from all parts of the state.

Must Eliminate Many Who Want To Go To Washington

This week A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, faces the task of writing to some three or four hundred persons in Outagamie county in all sections of the state to inform them the cannot go along on the graduation trip to Washington, D. C., next week.

Up to Monday Mr. Meating's final checkup of registrations showed, 1,308 from adults and graduates qualified to take the trip. In addition he has between 500 and 600 applications from "outsiders." As only 1,500 people can be accommodated it will be necessary to reject some of the applications.

Certificates authorizing persons to purchase their tickets for the trip were mailed Tuesday. Tickets for the trip are now on sale at the Chicago and Northwestern depot but no person can get a ticket without first having the little yellow slip signed by Mr. Meating.

As soon as all the tickets have been mailed out Mr. Meating and his staff of assistants will begin the work of assigning the 1,500 people to sections and cars. Section leaders will be named whose duty it will be to keep a constant check on the persons in their groups.

Details of the trip are almost completed. A final conference is to be held Thursday by Mr. Meating with officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad over which the Outagamie-co special will pass.

600 BARBERS ATTEND FIRST STATE CLINIC

Modern Methods Employed in Trade Are Demonstrated to Delegates

A crowd of nearly 600 barbers, from all sections of the state, packed Rainbow Gardens Monday night for the first modern barbering demonstrations.

All of the latest methods employed in the trade, including modern styles of haircuts and hair cutting, new ways of using barbering tools and instruments and a glance into the future were presented.

The meeting, sponsored by the Appleton Barber's union, opened at 6 o'clock with a banquet. W. E. Smith, secretary of the union and former president, made the arrangements. It had been planned to feed about 40 men but the crowd kept coming until there wasn't even room to seat them all.

While the men ate, their wives and women friends were entertained at a card party at the Knights of Pythias hall. Mrs. William Miller had charge of that part of the program. After the card party the women were brought to Rainbow Gardens in chartered busses and a dancing party was held. It is estimated that about 200 women were in Appleton.

Immediately after the banquet there was a series of short addresses by several prominent men and the speaking program culminated in an address by Herman C. Wenzel, Indianapolis, general secretary and treasurer of the Journeymen Barbers' International Union of America.

PRAISE UNIONISM

"Organization is the thing that has put the barbering profession on a plane where it is recognized as one of the leading crafts," Mr. Wenzel said. "Before we learned the lesson of unionism and organization the barbers as a class were not even considered as important as common laborers. Barbers had to work from early morning until late at night. Their prices were so low that many had trouble even making out an ordinary existence."

"Today this has been changed, especially in those states and communities where the barber unions are strong. We are getting a fair wage and we are able to live better and give our families more of the opportunities of life. If there are any barbers in Wisconsin who do not belong to the unions they should join at once. It isn't fair to be a slacker and accept the profits of organization without helping toward its support."

Mr. Wenzel praised Appleton and Wisconsin. He said the unions in this state are strong, healthy and active. He said that barbers in Wisconsin are progressive and not content to stand still. He praised the Appleton union for its progressive spirit in sponsoring the demonstrations and said he hoped it would continue to do so. He said the Appleton local is fortunate to have a man as active and energetic as William E. Smith, the man who planned and executed this first statewide demonstration meeting.

The national officer also praised Wisconsin's license law for barbers and said other states would do well to copy it.

He pointed out that there is no license law in Indiana and as a result all of the men who could not pass barbering tests in other states were going to Indiana to practice. He said that when the California license law was put into effect recently more than 900 men who had been practicing barbering previously were disqualified because they were found to be suffering from contagious disease. He pointed out that the passage of license laws is a protection to the public and helps raise the standard of the profession. These laws were passed only after the barbers had organized and fought for them, he pointed out.

MAYOR WELCOMES THEM

Other speakers included Mayor John Goodland, who welcomed the barbers to Appleton; Fred E. Bachman, president of the Appleton Trades and Labor council, who discussed the values of organization; County Judge Fred V. Heinemann; Herb Hellig, director of the Appleton Vocational school; A. J. Rothschild, president of the National Products company of Eau Claire; Edward Pirner, Fond du Lac, an inspector with the state health department; and Louis Holshouser, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Master Barber's association.

After the speeches there was a demonstration of bobbing a woman's hair and cutting a man's hair with the use of nothing except an electric clipper. This was followed by a demonstration of a barber shop in 1940. This feature was presented by the Molar System of Barber colleges.

A hair-cutting machine was one of the things used in this demonstration. This machine resembles a small vacuum cleaner. An electric clipper does the work and all the hair is sucked into a bag, thus preventing the irritating and uncomfortable sensation of having tiny hair drop down between the collar and the neck. It also keeps the barber shop free of hair and skin. Along with this machine was shown an electric razor.

LITTLE CHUTE MAN DESERTS FROM ARMY

STARTS ASSESSMENT OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Assessment of the manufacturing concerns in Appleton was begun this week by George Peotter, city assessor. Merchant evaluations have been completed, and following the manufacturing assessment Mr. Peotter will continue his work in the First and Second wards.

Inasmuch as both merchants and manufacturers usually have their books in readiness for the assessor, the work of evaluating these concerns is usually done in record time, if the businessmen are not out of the city on business trips. Both these classes usually have their inventories as of May 1, and are anxious to assist the assessor in his work.

Gus Sell, Outagamie-co agricultural agent, will be the speaker at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Kiwanis club at Conway hotel. A. G. Oosterhaus, chairman of the club's agricultural committee, has charge of the day's program.

ELK OFFICERS MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Elk officers and committeemen will meet at the club rooms Wednesday evening to transact business and consider a program of activity during the summer. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:15.

Considerable time in shaving and hair cutting is saved with these new instruments.

Other demonstrations showed how to give scalp treatments with a violet ray machine; newest scientific methods of shampooing, massaging and facials with the use of new creams and lotions.

A talking motion picture was presented on "Light Therapy." This was a study of the muscles and nerves of the face to enable the barber to more scientifically treat his customers in massaging and facial work.

After the demonstrations the entire group enjoyed a dancing party.

NATURAL GAS IS VALUABLE AID TO PRODUCERS OF OIL

Becomes Valuable By-product to Help Out Many Petroleum Companies

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—It now seems probable that the production of crude petroleum in 1930 will be under 1,000,000,000 barrels. This is less than the 1929 output, according to the figures of the federal oil reporting board, but with the huge stocks of crude and refined already on hand estimated to amount to about 8 months supply, the technical situation of the petroleum industry does not seem likely to be materially improved in the next few months, despite the heavy increase in demand for refined products.

However, the position of many producers shows distinct improvement. They have begun to draw profits from another source incident to oil production, namely the transportation and distribution of natural gas, a by-product, which for years has been wasted in many districts, now is proving a most valuable addition to resources. Recent developments in long distance transportation of natural gas are regarded as one of the most significant achievements not only in the oil business but in industry in general.

VALUABLE BY-PRODUCTS

The trend of natural gas has come about through the revision of ideas as to the amount of oil still available in the United States. There have been discoveries of new fields and of oil bearing sands at greater depths in old fields and these show that previous estimates of supplies were far too conservative. New methods employed in these fields are estimated to have added 600,000,000 barrels to two Pennsylvania fields alone. With such supplies available producers are turning to by-products for additional profits and natural gas is one of the most valuable of these.

Major industrial areas which formerly had to depend on solid or liquid fuels, have now been connected with natural gas lines and the demand for gas fuel has been amply demonstrated. According to oil experts, the value of gas is greater when it is delivered at the surface in conjunction with oil, since gas is of the greatest importance as a propulsive agent for oil in bringing it to the surface.

Conservative estimates place the 1930 natural gas distribution to consumers at over 2,000,000,000,000 cubic feet. In addition large quantities will be used for fuel in the oil fields and other supplies will be devoted to the production of carbon black.

PIPE CHIEF COST

The principal cost of the distribution of natural gas over long distances is the cost of pipe. This is leading to consideration of the use of smaller diameter pipe of greater thickness, capable of withstanding pressure of 1,500 pounds to the square inch. The first lines were of large diameter and pressures were held down to 400 to 500 pounds. Some concerns are using telephone pipe. That is, they build their lines of small, thick pipe near the source where pressure is greatest, and increase the size and decrease the thickness as distance lowers the pressure.

Improved methods of welding also have decreased costs, as has the use of tractors and machinery for handling the pipe lengths in laying. The extent to which the gas section of the petroleum industry has progressed is shown in the dependence which steel companies now are placing on pipe orders. Demand for pipe has been an outstanding feature in the steel trade in the last fortnight. Some of the large makers of pipe are already booked for four to six months in advance. Some public utilities have placed tentative orders, even before working out all the details of their distribution lines.

CHECK ROW PLANTING TRIED WITH POTATOES

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin potato fields in the future may look like checkerboards if tests made at Spooner prove successful.

The college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin today announced that officials of the college were watching the experiment with a view to urging adoption of check row planting.

The experiment is believed to be the first in the middle west and probably in the nation. Check row planting is used to combat weeds but hitherto it has been possible only by hand methods, which are slow, expensive and laborious.

"Machine check-row planting is entirely new to the potato industry although it has been successfully used with corn for a number of years," officials at the college said. "It consists of mechanically dropping the seed at regular intervals in the row so that parallel rows of plants are formed crosswise the field. This makes possible cross-cultivation by machinery, a process deemed essential for weed control, particularly where quick grass and other weeds persist."

Celebrate Anniversary Of McCormick Reaper

Rapahine, Va.—(P)—A little farm shop in the Virginia hills will have an important part in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the reaper in 1931.

It was there that Cyrus H. McCormick constructed the "contraption" that was to revolutionize agriculture and give to the world cheap bread.

The first reaper was crude, but the principle remains the same in the efficient machines of today.

Celebration of the 100th anniversary will be national and possibly international in its scope. Virginia, naturally, will be interested in the 100th anniversary, although it has long since given place to the mid-west as a leader in grain production.

A model of the first crude machine is preserved in the state museum at Richmond.

Cyrus McCormick was one of the many who toiled on farms, swinging the old-fashioned "cradle" through the wheat on his father's acres in Rockbridge county, Virginia.

He profited by the mistakes of his father, who had sought unsuccessfully to construct a harvesting machine. His father's plan of a machine to be pushed was abandoned.

Instead McCormick adopted a cutting blade on the side. Then followed the device to separate the stalks to place them in cutting position, and arms to gather the fallen stalks. The machine floundered along the field, a "joke" to some of the neighbors. But it worked.

The McCormick home lay in the Shenandoah valley, a spot to be known in after years as the "granary of the Confederacy" because of its productivity.

PROPER DIET FOR YOUNG OR OLD CARS

AT DEEP-ROCK STATIONS

When an automobile or truck takes to ailing, you can often lay it to crank-case dilution, improper diet of gasoline and oil.

Crank-case dilution diminishes with KANT-NOCK-ETHYL Gasoline and Deep-Rock Certified Prize Motor Oils. Car manufacturers endorse them; engineers prescribe them for keeping motors healthy.

High compression motors especially... for KANT-NOCK-ETHYL is aviation quality, anti-knock fuel. Every drop vaporizes; none can seep into your crank-case and dilute your oil. Quick starting in cold weather is another big feature. And prodigious power! Yet all this costs no more than other Ethyl Gasolines.

You get extra service, too, from Certified Deep-Rock Prize Motor Oils. They leave the refinery sealed in registered steel drums. The seal is not broken till you are served at your favorite Deep-Rock station. Call there for expert and courteous service.

OIL HEAT depends on the OIL... depends on having the correct oil for your motor and having it delivered promptly. Phone Appleton 2992 for information. Contract now for next winter.

AGREEMENT ON LAKE DIVERSION

It is proposed to settle the controversy over lake water diversion at Chicago by a compact of states formed by New York, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois. The plan would be to have these six states reach a friendly agreement as to the future use of Lake Michigan water for the development known as the Lakes-to-the-gulf waterway. The supreme court has settled all other phases of the dispute, that is the amount of water that may be taken for drainage, sewage disposal and power. It has fixed a limit beyond which Chicago cannot go after it has completed reduction works and other improvements ordered by the courts. There alone remains the question of how much water is needed for the Illinois waterway which is to connect with the Mississippi. It is felt that the lake states, along with Illinois, ought to be able to determine the question of diversion for this purpose by a common understanding.

There is precedent for the procedure in the action of a number of states concerning river disputes. It has been resorted to in a measure in connection with the development of the Boulder dam project and in the settlement of the Colorado and Platte river disputes. It is to be taken for granted the lake states would not agree to any diversion that would materially lower lake levels or that might under any circumstances be detrimental to lake navigation. Within these limitations it ought to be possible for the six states to determine how much water could be safely drawn from the lakes and yet meet the requirements for the Illinois end of the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway. The agreement could be ratified by the legislatures of the states and made binding for all time. It would be better to settle the dispute in this manner, it seems to us, than to leave it to congress and the courts, for that would mean in all probability bitter and prolonged fighting and would throw the whole subject into the field of politics. Conferences for the purpose ought to be undertaken to at least determine whether the plan is feasible.

WARMTH AT THE POLES

Dr. Lawrence Gould, geologist of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, has dealt a blow to the popular conception of climate at the South pole. In an interview at Balboa, Canal Zone, he said: "The climate there was sub-tropical millions of years ago. We found plenty of coal there. The ice is decreasing, suggesting that the climate is getting milder. The whole Antarctic may become sub-tropical again. About 300 miles from the Pole, on top of the mountains, there was considerable melting of ice."

Of course, he went on to say that the return of sub-tropical climate to that region would take thousands or millions of years. But the idea of "melting ice" anywhere down there in nature's refrigerator is disillusioning. After Stefansson told us of the mild climate in the Arctic area we clung to the unwavering chill of the Antarctic as a last hope. There was one place on the globe where no real estate subdivision would ever be opened up and no fashionable resort established. But melting ice sounds like the beginning of the end.

A NEW SYSTEM FOR TEACHERS

A new wrinkle in pedagogy is reported from Montgomery county, in Virginia—a scheme that looks like an excellent thing for district school superintendents to make a note of.

Dr. Minor W. Thomas of the Virginia State Teachers' College has devised a method whereby school teachers are paid for what their pupils learn.

and those who have learned the most earn their instructors a $200 bonus.

Each teacher is paid 10 cents a day for each child present. A basic salary of $10 a month for each year of college education possessed by the teacher is also in effect.

The result, according to Dr. Thomas, is that 25 per cent fewer teachers, receiving salaries 15 per cent above the old average, are able to give one and one-half times as much knowledge to 13 per cent more pupils than under the old system.

INDIAN REVOLT GROWS

The Anti-British movement in India is spreading. It is beginning to assume really national proportions. Racial and religious differences are being cast aside in the common cause. Moslem and Brahmin are joining hands to force concessions from Great Britain, although Moslems, who are a small minority of the population, prefer domination status.

Notwithstanding the movement for independence has grown to an extensive scale, it is a bloodless revolution, relatively speaking. There have been very few casualties and very little fighting. Most of the resistance is confined to so-called non-cooperation and boycott of British products.

Nevertheless, what is transpiring in India today might lead to war. The swelling ranks of civil disobedience will logically culminate in the end in violent disorders. This would be a catastrophe of the first order, for it would result in wholesale slaughter of innocent men and women. Neutral opinion hopes that Great Britain will find it convenient to make concessions to the nationalists in the near future, with a proposal to grant India dominion status. It would not, of course, be the same status as that of Canada or Australia or Ireland. British authority would be exercised in the background for some time, but self-government in name and almost in fact could be set up, it would seem, without objectionable consequences.

THE EDUCATED MAN

An enterprising youth, said a commencement speaker, can acquire a fraternity pin, a letter on his sweater and enough friends to help him later on in business, and still successfully "elude an education." The speaker then went on to tell the marks of the educated man. They are appreciation of the values of life and ability to choose among them, awareness of beauty and goodness and truth, a unified life, ability to think, social sympathy and understanding, capacity for criticism in the sense of independent judgment, creative service.

Some of the young men in the graduating class to which he spoke understood him, because they had found out some of these things already and were on their way to achieving them. Others, those who had eluded education, probably thought the speaker was old-fashioned and sentimental. It is tragic that any young people should spend four years in college without setting their feet on the path of true education. It is partly a fault of the colleges themselves, one which many of them are trying hard to remedy. It is also a fault of society in general which has set up a few false standards of success which confuse instead of help the youth of the land.

TOO NEAR PERFECTION

A young man who is just learning a new sport, a new art or a new profession is generally advised to watch the leaders in that line and see how they do things. Ordinarily that's good advice; but it occurs to us that in golf there are times when it doesn't work.

Take, for instance, Bobby Jones. In the recent British tournament, Bobby teed off on a 430-yard hole with a 300-yard drive that landed plunk in a deep sand trap. Then, unflustered, he proceeded to sock the ball out of the sand, drive it to the green, 130 yards away—and watch it trickle into the cup. Despite the fact that his drive landed him in a trap, he had made a par four hole in two strokes!

The novice, instead of learning anything from a performance like that, is apt to be just plain dismayed. Such a stunt looks so super-human that the beginner might well think that there was no use even to try to copy the great Bobby.

When winter comes the little striped ground squirrel curls up into a round ball and goes to sleep. He becomes as hard as stone, but when placed in a warm room, will thaw out and come to life again.

The whale is not a fish. It is a mammal which lives on the surface of the water, breathes air directly through nostrils, and gives birth to living young which are suckled at the breast of the mother.

HAVING nothing better to do, we are about to plan for the future. Yes, ladies and gentlemen, the future. What—don't you know? Why, Friday the Thirteenth comes next week, and we're getting right down to work to prepare for it. Yesterday we were drawing plans for a storm cellar. Today we're correcting the plans. Tomorrow, if something more important doesn't happen, we may go out and dig it. Of course, if anyone has a nice storm cellar already dug, we're open to offers. We have no objections to a used storm cellar if it's in a nice neighborhood. One can't be too careful these days, particularly on Friday the Thirteenth and during a year which adds up to 13. (Sure, 1 plus 9 plus 3 plus 0 equals 13!)

Superstitious? Gracious, no! But we must be on our guard.

JEFFERSON DAVIS' BIRTH

On June 3, 1808, Jefferson Davis, a soldier, statesman and the president of the Confederate States of America, was born at Todd County, Kentucky.

His family moved during his infancy to Mississippi, with which state his fame has always been connected. Following his graduation from West Point in 1828, Davis served in the army for seven years, resigning on account of illness. Davis first came into prominence as a member of the House of Representatives and later as a United States senator. He left Congress at the outbreak of the Mexican war to enlist, and gained considerable fame as a soldier. When Pierce was elected president Davis was appointed secretary of war but left the cabinet when Buchanan became president.

At the time Mississippi seceded from the Union, Davis was serving in the Senate. Shortly after his resignation he was elected president of the Confederate States. After the fall of Richmond in 1865 he was captured when endeavoring to escape and was imprisoned in Fort Monroe for two years. He was released on bail in 1867 and finally set at liberty by the general amnesty of 1868.

STANDARDIZATION AND THE HICOSTOSICKNESS.

The chief of staff of a hospital which is, I believe, approved by the American College of Surgeons as a Class A institution, protests that the term "closed staff" is not fair. His hospital, he avers, has a "semi-closed" staff, made so in order to meet the demands of the constitution and yet maintain standards in organization and administration.

"Perhaps the term 'closed staff' is not an accurate one, but I imagine 95 per cent of the good doctors in a community where such a hospital is located would find no fault with the term, whatever the chosen few on the staff might think about it. I often object to the popular misuse of the term 'birth control.' The obstetrician is the one who may properly talk about birth control. If people mean the prevention of conception why should they hesitate to call it that?"

Pursuing his defense of the American College of Surgeons' standardization of hospitals, nurse training and surgical service, the chief of staff concedes that there is some justice in my argument that a two year course of hospital training is sufficient to make a capable nurse. He says that if a nurse has "good basic training such as is given in high school, two years of sound nursing training will make her a useful and competent nurse." He does not say how many years in high school, but let us compromise and say two years. I think one year of high school would be enough, but we'll say two years, in order to make sure of some of the dumb doctors who just don't seem to absorb elementary education while they are getting it, but begin to brighten up and wonder what it's all about after a year of high school.

"But if I were a nurse," the chief of staff goes on, "I would take more preparatory training and a longer nurse's course, so as to qualify for a higher position. Special nurses, as in schools, supervisors, surgical assistants, technicians, teachers, dietitians and superintendents come from the general ranks of nurses."

"Fine, I applaud, for the girl who has the time, the means and the ambition to go in for some specialty. But a darn poor reason for keeping every young woman who wishes to become a nurse dawdling away an extra year of her time when she might be out earning a year's income as a trained nurse."

Then up speaks the superintendent of nurses in the same hospital, saying there is almost a year of educational work given to nurses (in the three year trick) which would not be acquired in school prior to training. Much of this is directed especially to the needs of the nurses and is best given in hospital training. Well, I should hope the poor girls would learn something of good use to them by way of a trifling compensation for the year of expert nursing service they give the hospital at less than a chambermaid's wages.

The latest hifalutin idea of the A. C. S. is to make high school graduation a minimum requirement for entrance to nurse training school. If that comes to pass it is going to exclude much desirable material and give a lot of fluff. And it would tend to increase the cost of sickness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
A Girl With a Mind.
As a member of the home nursing class in home economics I wish to inquire whether there is any such condition as "poor health." Doesn't health mean that perfect state of the body which brings happiness? How can anyone be in "poor health?" (Mrs M. C. R.)

Answer.—First, what is happiness? I think you are right about health, but perhaps our spiritual teachers would not agree with our notion about it. Some people seem to think you must be dead in order to attain happiness. Most of us who think we are in health and perfectly happy, realize being in the 70 to 90 per cent class. Few adults are more than 99 per cent well or happy. Keep right on with your thinking about such things, daughter. It is the way to develop the mind—if the school people do not load you up with so much "home work" that you can get no chance to do any thinking.

Oranges at Night.
Is it harmful to eat oranges at night? Many people have told me so, but no one seems to know why. (Mrs. A. J. R.)

Answer.—No. It is all right to eat them whenever you like.

Hemorrhoids Obliterated.
A member of my family suffers from piles or hemorrhoids. Our physician says this can be treated successfully with chemical obliteration, without interrupting the patient's usual occupation. Please advise about this. (J. L. H.)

Answer.—Yes, that method is successfully used in the majority of cases now.

No Management Needed.
Kindly give me your opinion of the teachings in the book, "Practical Management," by Dr. William H. Stummerman, published by Arden, Los Angeles. (M. O.)

Answer.—I have never seen the book. The intestine needs no management, so far as I know. Just leave it alone, forget you've got such an appendage. Interference is what makes trouble; the old fashioned people called such interference "regulation." This California author has devised a new name for it.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York — A young Russian film director was addressing a recent sales convention of a large movie corporation at Atlantic City.

His talk was full of such terms as "cultural pictures," "intellectual cinema" and "the art of the motion picture," alarming words to men who have to sell the Hollywood product.

As he went along, he sensed the coolness of his audience.

With his most ingratiating smile, therefore, he closed on a reassuring note.

"Don't let my long hair mislead you," he said. "I can still direct a picture for Clara Bow."

SOVIET DIRECTOR

The Russian is Sergie M. Eisenstein, who made "Potemkin" and "The Days that Shook the World."

He has been loaned Hollywood by Sovkino, the soviet producing organization, and has come here to make his first talkie.

His first picture, "The Strike," made in 1924, won a prize in Paris and his eminence became such that two years ago Douglas Fairbanks called on him and urged him to come to America. Jessie Lasky later met him in Paris and signed him to a Paramount contract.

Eisenstein is 31 years old, smooth shaven and of urbane appearance. He has yet to employ a professional actor.

With his cameraman, Edouard Tisse, who has been with him from the beginning, he goes about finding screen types in the streets. When they come upon a likely type, they take the stranger's name and address. They never have more than 5,000 names in their catalog.

In "Potemkin," the ship's surgeon was found shoveling coal into the furnace of a hotel in Sebastopol.

The hero of Eisenstein's current film on Broadway, "Old and New," is a cream separator. The picture glorifies collective farming.

Although he works with the proletariat, Eisenstein comes from a ship building family that lost all its wealth in the Red revolution.

Eisenstein is an architect and engineer. He designed fortifications for the Red army. He spent his spare time in theaters and tried directing plays. One was given in a gas plant, the employees at their tasks forming part of the cast. That turned his mind to the even bigger possibilities of the movies.

In Moscow he lived in one room allotted him by the government. Here he was put up in the capitalistic manner at an ultra-elegant Fifth avenue hotel.

TRICK

Enforcement of the new police regulation against jaywalking has been about the least spectacular of Commissioner Whalen's experiments.

A few more pedestrians wait for the green light. Others, from long habit cross streets against the red and usually without even a scolding from the busy cops.

The first day the rule was neatly circumvented by an old lady in Times Square. Letting out a shriek like that of an ambulance siren, she started those about her and brought traffic to a grinding stop. Then she calmly barged across.

"After a war or a battle is over the vanquished bewail their lost opportunities and the victors parade the swiftness of their plans and the accuracy of their calculations."

—Winston Churchill.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Random notes in a Washington Day Book:

Pat Sullivan, that elongated Irishman who is filling out the term of the late Senator Warren of Wyoming, plays a little game with a carrot top senate page every morning at the entrance to the republican cloakroom.

Senator Pat ambles down the corridor of the capitol to within 10 feet of the cloakroom. There he stops, removes his hat and send it sailing through the air into the hands of the page. Then he turns and enters through another door.

This takes place every morning. Rarely does the senator's throw go wild. If the page makes the catch he is rewarded with a "bravo." If he fails, Senator Pat threatens him with making him pay a cleaner's bill.

NEW CHAIRS

Mrs. Hoover is purchasing 50 new gilt Louis XV chairs, upholstered in blue silk damask, which are to be added to the furnishings of the East room at the White House.

Miss Elizabeth Steiwer, daughter of the United States senator from Oregon may be preparing for the future. She attended the republican school of politics held in the capitol during the month of April.

And the daughter of the minister of Austria to the United States, Miss Loranda Prochnik, is one of the most enthusiastic girl fliers in Washington.

Col. "Billy" Mitchell, one-time stormy petrel of the army air service, "the indefatigable Colonel Billy," as he is dubbed by capital society writers, is one of Washington's social favorites. His home, "Boxwood," at Middleburg, Va., is the scene of many brilliant gatherings.

No less a personage than William Delano, nationally known artist and a member of the Fine Arts commission, was called in to design the lighting effects in the new executive offices of the White House, burned on Christmas Eve. And the president is highly pleased with his work.

CLAUDEL'S OPERA

M. Paul Claudel, the poet-ambassador of France to the United States, went to Berlin to attend the premiere of his new opera.

One of the outstanding literary figures of France and acclaimed as one of the really great poets of the present, Ambassador Claudel has written the libretto for this opera.

It was based upon the life of Columbus. Darius Milhaud has written the music.

HUNT FOR WOULD-BE SLAYER OF WEALTHY WOMAN IN CHICAGO

Two Shots Fired Through Window into Empty Bed of Mrs. Brenner Dechow

Chicago—(AP)—An attempt was made early today upon the life of Mrs. Lotte Brenner Dechow, the wealthy elderly woman who recently divorced the young, self-styled "Count von Buelow."

The assassin fired two shots through her bedroom window. The bullets pierced the coverlet of her bed.

The bedroom is on the second floor of Mrs. Dechow's costly residence at 5325 Sheridan-rd. The assassin climbed to the roof of a garage abutting the house, placed a gun against the bedroom window and fired twice.

Mrs. Dechow, 55 years old and possessor of a fortune left her by the late Alderman Nate Brenner, had arisen five minutes earlier to go to the chamber of her sister, Mrs. May Gross, whose husband was buried yesterday. It was while in her sister's room that she heard the shots and hurried back to her own.

The bullets had drilled the screen and window just below the point the shade reached. Police later found a .38 calibre bullet embedded in the floor. The other bullet was believed to have buried itself in the mattress. Detectives said that from the position of the bullet holes Mrs. Dechow would have been wounded in the side had she been in bed.

FRIENDLY WITH "BUELOW"

Seeking a motive, officers asked Mrs. Dechow if she had been usually active in seeking to trace robbers who, in the guise of census enumerators, invaded her home March 31, taking valuable jewelry. She said she had not. They also questioned her feelings toward her divorced husband. She said that although she recently had sought his arrest on charge of false swearing in the procurement of their marriage license, she and Dechow were now on friendly terms.

"I'm sure Henry wouldn't do it," she said. "He's traveled in bad company and I've lost my money, but he wouldn't be that vicious."

"I've slept in that bed for 18 years," she continued. "Whoever fired those shots knew where the bed was placed. But I can't understand who would want to take my life."

Mrs. Dechow's sister, grieving over the loss of her husband, was weeping in her room, and it was to comfort her that Mrs. Dechow arose and went to Mrs. Gross' room in another wing of the house.

REMOVE BARRIERS AT ORPHANAGE HILL

Barriers on Highway 41 at Orphanage hill, between DePue and Green Bay, were being removed this week by the Brown-co highway department. A dangerous curve at this point has been widened and it is believed that this improvement will remove a serious traffic hazard which existed there. Several fatal accidents have occurred at this point and the widening of the road, it is believed, will prevent further accidents there.

"RECOMMENDING KONJOLA TO ALL" SAYS HAPPY MAN

"To New Medicine Is Due All Credit," Says New Franken Man Relieved of Stomach Ailment

MR. WILLIAM TILIARD

"For three years I suffered, with ever growing intensity, from indigestion and the accumulation of gases after meals," said Mr. William Tiliard, New Franken, near Green Bay. "I bloated to a distressing degree and the resultant pains often made it impossible for me to do my daily work. I frequently found myself unable to sleep and my appetite became very poor. My strength and energy grew steadily less and although I tried several medicines, none of them appeared to help me."

"The first bottle of Konjola began making a new man of me. By the time I had finished the second bottle I found myself sleeping soundly and uninterruptedly and my appetite had returned to normal. I now eat heartily and enjoy my meals for the food certainly agrees with me. I no longer suffer from gas in my stomach and bloating is a thing of the past. I no longer suffer from the sensation of a lump in my stomach as soon as food enters it. I have gained strength and energy."

Although Konjola frequently overcomes ailments almost like magic, most cases require a longer treatment. From six to eight weeks is recommended in severe cases.

Konjola is sold in Appleton, Wis., at Schlicht's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Last Week Is Busy One For Society In Capital

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS (Post-Crescent's Washington Society Editor)

Washington—The week in which Wisconsin celebrated its 82nd birthday was a busy one for Wisconsin people in the city where Congress solemnly approved the admission of their state into the union on May 23, 1848.

The outstanding affairs of the week were the brilliant Polo Ball on Monday, and the first real party of the season given on Tuesday by the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, at their historic estate, Woodley.

Apparently all official Washington was there with cars crowding the roads for a full mile near Woodley. The one and only hansom cab in Washington, owned by Mrs. James Parmelee, took its place in the procession of town cars.

Wisconsin people at the party included Mrs. John J. Blaine, wife of Senator Blaine, of Boscombe; Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, wife of Rep. Cooper of Racine, Rep. and Mrs. Edward E. Browne of Waupaca, and Dr. Stanley Hornbeck of the State Department who took his degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collier and Dr. and Mrs. Horace D. Norton, all of La Crosse, spent the three day Decoration Day holiday at Massanutton Heights, Va.

Colonel and Mrs. P. M. Anderson, formerly of Madison and Augusta, Wis., entertained at dinner Monday evening. They attended a dinner party in Baltimore, Md., Sunday, and Tuesday evening were guests of Mrs. Abner Ferguson at a dinner at the Columbia Country Club.

Colonel Anderson left Washington Wednesday for a short business trip to New York.

MISS KINSMAN WEDS

The wedding of Miss Ellen Kinsman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Delos O. Kinsman formerly of Appleton, and Burgess Seamonson of Stoughton, Wis., which took place Wednesday afternoon at the bride's parents' home here, was a quiet but lovely affair.

It was a white wedding, with the bride in white satin and lace made in the graceful princess style and the traditional filmy veil. Her sister and matron-of-honor, Mrs. Alvin Loverud of Stoughton, Wis., wore her own wedding dress of white velvet and chiffon. The decorations of white roses and lilies carried out the color note.

The bride's brother-in-law, Alvin

Loverud, acted as best man for the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Seamonson left immediately after a small reception for northern New York where they will spend their honeymoon, eventually going to Niagara Falls, thence home to Chicago by boat. They will be at home about the middle of June. Mrs. Seamonson's going away costume was a wine colored tweed suit with eggshell blouse and accessories.

The ceremony was performed by Chancellor Lucius C. Clark of the American University, where the bride's father, Dr. Kinsman, is head of the Economics Department.

After the arrival of Miss Kinsman and Mr. and Mrs. Loverud in the National Capital on May 24, they had little time for anything but preparations, though some sightseeing was worked into the crowded days. The groom's parents were unable to attend the wedding.

Rep. and Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper of Racine were guests at an interesting dinner given in honor of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, by Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Monday at the Mayflower.

A number of diplomats, led by the Dean of the corps, the Ambassador of Mexico Senor Don Manuel Teller were included in the distinguished company which also boasted of the Secretary of the Navy, Charles Francis Adams, the Commercial Counselor of the English Embassy and Lady Broderick and the Solicitor General and Mrs. Thomas D. Thatch-er.

Mrs. Edward E. Browne attended a garden party given by Mrs. Frederick Farrington of Chevy Chase at her beautiful home, Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Marsh, formerly of Green Bay, left Friday on their northwestern motor tour which will eventually bring them to Green Bay.

18th Century English Mahogany

The mahogany furniture of the 18th Century England was the culmination of four centuries of progress in furniture design. It combined utility with beauty of line and proportion to an extraordinary degree, and brought to perfection the use of inlays and figured woods.

Today it retains its universal appeal because it possesses dignity without undue formality, grace without weakness, refinement without artificiality.

NEW FIGHTING EXPECTED IN CHINESE WAR

At Least 400,000 Troops Likely to Oppose Each Other on Honan Front

Shanghai—(AP)—After an apparently brief cessation of hostilities between the Nationalist government and the Northern Alliance, which is seeking to create an independent government in north China centering at Peiping, advances from the Honan province zone of police today indicated renewed fighting is imminent.

Dispatches indicated that at least 400,000 troops might oppose each other on the Honan front.

Despite the multifarious claims of each group claiming victories, independent advances intimated that the opposing armies continue virtually deadlocked along the Hanchow-Tung-kwan railroad across Honan province.

The Northerners seemingly were holding a slight advantage, reports disclosed, having forced the Nationalists to retreat as far east as Kwei-tze in the northeastern part of the province.

The Nationalists were reported to have increased their forces to at least 150,000, indicating that Chiang Kai-shek has ordered a general advance and lending strength to the belief that renewed hostilities are imminent.

Hostilities in Shantung province along the Yellow river in the vicinity of Tsinan also seemed likely. The Northerners during the last week have threatened Tsinan, causing foreigners there to perfect plans of defense or evacuation in the event that should become necessary.

Troop concentrations were being conducted in that area, the Northerners seeking to bring Shantung into their alliance while the Nationalists were just as determined to hold the northern rebels north of the Yellow river.

ANOTHER BATTLE LINE
A third battle line is extended along the Peiping-Hankow railway southward to Chengchow. The Nationalists claim that their forces are steadily advancing on this front, while the Northerners asserted today that they had shattered the Nationalist thrust against the Northern headquarters at Chengchow.

In the open profession of the Nationalists' intention of renewing the attack against the Northern allies, sharp fighting on all fronts is generally anticipated. The Nationalists are particularly seeking to penetrate the enemy territory north of Chengchow, planning to destroy the Peiping-Hankow railway bridge over the Yellow river, 18 miles north of Chengchow, thereby crippling the Northerners' principal avenue of supplies from the north.

Similarly, the Northern forces are seeking to protect the bridge and have airplanes, artillery units and anti-aircraft guns strategically located in the vicinity of the steel span, two miles long, the longest bridge in China.

An additional factor unfavorable to the Nationalist government, weakening its offensive military power, has developed in Hunan province, where a motley horde of Kwangsi province anti-Nanking rebels has joined hands with a strong bandit force. The result is the so-called "Red army" which has been advancing northward professedly with the intention of laying siege to the Wuhan cities—Hankow, Wuchang and Yangtze, located at the confluence of the Yangtze and Han-shui rivers.

FOREIGNERS WORRIED
This "Red army" already is threatening Changsha, 220 miles south of Wuchang, causing foreigners there to ask for protection of foreign gunboats regularly assigned to patrol the Yangtze river.

As a result of this development, it was revealed today that the Nationalists have withdrawn a portion of the forces ordered to the Kinan front north of Chengchow, dispatching them instead to Changsha to halt the new menace.

Northern advances today stated that the Nationalist forces had captured the Mamutai airplane base in northeast Honan province, taking 12 airplanes and 50 pilots.

The Nationalists continue to suppress news of detailed military developments.

Although military headquarters at Nanking have denied that Chiang Kai-shek was wounded in a clash at Kwei-tze, eastern Honan, it is generally believed here that the report is correct.

LUMBERMAN NEAR DEATH
Chicago—(AP)—Edward Hines, millionaire Chicago lumberman and philanthropist, is seriously ill at his home in suburban Evanston.

Last Saturday he caught cold while playing golf and the next day suffered a heart attack. His physician, Dr. Walter W. Hamburger, said he had developed pleurisy. He is 67 years old. Members of his family were called to his bedside late last night.

STUDENT WINS HONOR
Madison—(AP)—Donald Melklejohn, son of Prof. Alexander Melklejohn, was named winner of the Kenneth Sterling Day award at the University of Wisconsin today. The award is given the senior man for scholarship, physical fitness, and moral character. Melklejohn, a Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholarship award, was a member of the hockey and tennis teams.

LUCKY BREAK
London—(AP)—Sir John Fox, recently executed for the murder of his mother, got a lucky break. The day after he paid with his life, he was cited to appear as a correspondent in a divorce suit. At least he was spared the scandal of a divorce suit even though he did suffer the penalty of death for murder.

Childhood Sweetheart To Be Rockefeller's Bride

Mary Toddhunter Clark, of Philadelphia, and Nelson A. Rockefeller, second son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who will be married June 23.

Philadelphia—(AP)—The wedding here on June 23, of Miss Mary Toddhunter Clark and Nelson A. Rockefeller, second son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will mark a new chapter in a tale of romance which had its beginning on the beaches of Maine.

It was not far from there that the young son of the house of Rockefeller was born.

It was near Northeast Harbor, Me., that these two minds found mutual interest in the great outdoors.

Both are fond of horseback riding, tennis, photography, swimming and hikes through the hills.

Both families spent the summers there several years ago. Miss Clark and Nelson were very young then—he is only 21 now and she is 22. But each summer they met again and the romance blossomed.

MADE DEBUT IN 1926
Miss Clark made her debut at a tea here in October, 1926. She is identified with the activities of the younger social set in this city and New York.

During the last two years she has been responsible for much of the social service work sponsored by the Junior League.

In dramatic productions presented by the league she has taken difficult parts and has appeared in specialty dances at the Junior League Cabaret, the Easter Ball, and the Devon horse show cabaret.

She was graduated from the Foxcroft School in Virginia in 1925, where she played basketball. A year later she took a degree at the Sorbonne in Paris.

She has traveled extensively in Europe.

Her mother is the former Miss Elizabeth W. Roberts, daughter of the late George B. Roberts, president of the Pennsylvania railroad 30 years ago.

FATHER AN ATTORNEY
Her father, Percy Hamilton Clark, is the son of the late E. W. Clark, head of a banking firm which bore his name. He is a widely known attorney.

Miss Clark has six brothers and one sister.

The Clark-Rockefeller engagement marks the second alliance of the Rockefeller family with members of Philadelphia families.

Almira Rockefeller, daughter of Mrs. William G. Rockefeller, married M. Roy Jackson, master of hounds at the Radnor Hunt Club.

The wedding ceremony will be performed in St. Asaph's Protestant Episcopal Church, in Bala, a suburb, by the rector, the Rev. Benjamin N. Dird.

The Clarks have been lifelong members of the church.

It is said here that the couple will spend their honeymoon on a seven months' cruise around the world, making lengthy stops in China and India.

On their return, it is stated, they will occupy a $75,000 home which the father of young Rockefeller is building for them on the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills, N. Y.

PLAN 7 HEARINGS ON UTILITY RATE BOOSTS
Madison—(AP)—Hearings on seven applications for increase in utility rates are scheduled for the railroad commission this month.

Railroad commissioners today heard the application of the North Wisconsin Telephone company. The hearing was held at Madison, Wis.

The application of the Commonwealth Telephone company for an increase of rates for its Edgerton exchange will be considered at a hearing June 12 at Edgerton.

Other hearings all of which are to be held at the state capitol, are: Ladysmith municipal water works for an increase in rates, June 6; Madison Railways for a fare increase, June 9; North West Telephone company for an increase in rates for its Wild Rose exchange area; and the Amercy Electric company for a rate increase, June 10; La Crosse Telephone company for an increase in rates for its La Crosse and Onalaska exchange areas, June 17.

PREMIER'S ENEMIES DEFEATED ON PACT

British Liberals Vote With Government to Turn Down Move for Inquiry

London—(AP)—The London naval treaty today seemed well on its way toward final British approval. A Conservative motion which, if passed, at least would have delayed approval, was beaten last night in the house of commons by a vote of 252 to 201.

The Liberals voted with the government. The motion was presented by Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative prime minister, who asked that the treaty be subjected to rigid inquiry by an especially appointed board of 11 house members.

In presenting his motion Mr. Baldwin dismissed any anti-American feeling, but declared he had been moved nervous as to Britain's safety by certain provisions of the treaty, and felt it should be subjected to the same kind of inquiry it was receiving in the United States.

In answering him Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister, said the fact the "die-hards" in each of the three countries signatory to the treaty were fighting it was indication to him the safety of each of the countries was well provided for.

Winston Churchill, who has repeatedly attacked the instrument, took the brunt of the attack in last night's debate. "It is not a treaty of parity," he declared, "it is a treaty of inferiority."

TAG MANY CARS WITH DEFECTIVE LIGHTS
During the last week the two county motorcycle officers, Charles Steidl and Andrew Miller, have tagged more than 100 automobiles found on the highway with defective headlights, a checkup at the office of Sheriff Lappen reveals.

This checkup is possible because when a car is tagged a stub is torn off this card and turned over to Sheriff Lappen to be used as a record.

If the owner of the car tagged does not report within five days and prove that he has had his headlights adjusted a warrant can be issued for his arrest.

The checkup further shows that headlights on practically all of the cars which have been tagged have been adjusted.

POOR COMMITTEE TO ACT ON AID REQUESTS
The county board poor committee will meet Wednesday afternoon at the courthouse to act on applications for old age and mother's pensions.

There are four applications for old age pensions eight applications for renewals of mothers pensions and three new applications for mother's pensions, on file.

On Vacation

Jumping beans found in Mexico contain the larvae of small moths which, by their movements inside the bean, make it jump about.

YOU HAVE A DOCTOR'S WORD FOR THIS LAXATIVE

In 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he saw the harm in harsh purgatives for constipation and began to search for something harmless to the sensitive bowels.

Out of his experience was born a famous prescription. He wrote it thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and had breath, headaches, feverishness, nausea, gas, poor appetite, and such disorders, are relieved by the prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original effective and harmless formula. All drugstores have it.

'Last Man' Will Toast Old Comrades Of '61 In Midst Of 33 Vacant, Draped Chairs

Stillwater, Minn.—(AP)—The camp fire smoulders—ashes fall. The clouds are black against the sky:
No tap of drums, no bugle call;
My comrades, all, goodbye.
Standing alone among 33 empty chairs, black-draped, about a weird festive board, a tired old man, prideless winner of a race against death, will recite the above toast here on July 21.

He will act the final dramatic chapter of a tale of young and folk-like fighting men who 45 years ago formed the now famous "Last Man's club" of Civil war veterans.

A JEST WITH DEATH

The grim plan was laid in 1815, ironically, with jest and song and a toast of red wine.

Charles Lockwood of Chamberlain, S. D., is now the last man. He is 87.

The old musty hall-room of the Sawyer House, once the pride of Stillwater, will be opened for the event, its cracked walls covered with flags, although it has been closed for many years.

"To my comrades!" Lockwood will address his toast. Comrades they were! The 34 were the survivors of a company of young men who answered President Lincoln's first call for volunteers.

They left the same hall-room, then in the zenith of its pioneer glory, after a night of dancing, to go to war in 1861.

BULL RUN TAKES HALF

Half of them fell at Bull Run. Gettysburg took more. There were only 24 when, on the anniversary of Bull Run in 1815, they met again at dinner in the Sawyer House ball-room. The dinner became a bit grave.

Who it was that stood up to propose that the bottle of Burgundy in the middle of the table be set aside to be drunk as a toast by the last of them all to live has been kept secret.

With laughter, cheers and shouts the suggestion was adopted.

Each year since they have met in the old ball-room. But as chair after chair began to be draped in black, the re-unions became more solemn. Finally only a dozen remained, then nine, then only five.

In 1928 and 1929, only three met. Two of these died since, John Goff, next to the last, in April of this year.

Charles Lockwood attended Goff's funeral, then went home to Chamberlain to rest for his last pilgrimage on July 21.

Movie Men Given Taste Of Real Arizona He-Man Stuff

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Hollywood, Calif.—(CPA)—They've been making a rip-roaring western on location in Arizona 35 miles from the nearest town. Weeks of sand—heat—monotony. Harold Lipsitz, supervisor for Fox studios, and Ernest Pascal, scenarist, journeyed out to see how the film was coming along.

Within a mile of the location Lipsitz was met by Alfred Werker, the director. "I'm glad you're here," groaned Werker. "The monotony's got 'em. Nerves on edge—madhouse." At the edge of the camp they met an assistant director. "Ready to fly at one another's throats," he reported. "Can't you do something?"

At the mess hall the two officials were greeted by sullen looks and covert sneers. Lipsitz announced cheerily that with everybody's cooperation this picture was to be the greatest outdoor virile he-man stuff that ever roared across a screen.

"Blah," observed somebody, just as George O'Brien and Walter McGrail reached for the same plate of spinach. O'Brien got it. There were words of a purplish cast, and O'Brien slammed the spinach into McGrail's face.

SUPERVISOR WORRIED
"Listen, fellows," began Lipsitz. "Spotlight O'Brien," McGrail jeered through the spinach. "Give him plenty of close-ups or he won't play."

PAN-AMERICAN LINK GROWING STRONGER

States but now with the addition of Columbia the Washington government will have two staunch associates in Pan-American affairs.

President Hoover entertained the president-elect at the White House last night and there were many functions in his honor. The idea of having the president-elect of a country come to the United States for a visit has taken hold in South America ever since Mr. Hoover made the journey himself. It has proved one of the most fruitful steps in foreign policy in the last generation and will be on increasing importance in the next decade. These are unnoticed developments in the evolution of our foreign policy but they are having a penetrating effect on the course of Pan-American friendships.

Another reason for greater cooperation between the United States and Latin American countries is the part that the league of nations is playing in world affairs. Most of the countries of South America are members of the league and the United States government has on more than one occasion indicated that while it does not have any objection to membership on the part of Central and South American countries in the Geneva league, there are certain questions which it feels ought to be taken up first with Washington. In other words the Pan-American family is considered a unit in which the greatest intimacy should prevail. Thus when there are personal relations established between the executives of the larger countries and the United States it is regarded as a step in the direction of Pan-American solidarity.

BUSINESS BELOW LAST YEAR, BUT ON PAR WITH '28

Some Companies Even Showing More Profits Than in 1929

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE

Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—The extent to which American corporations have moved conservatively in the matter of paying dividends from current earnings and their ability to go through a period of business recession and still show a substantial margin of surplus over current payments to shareholders, is indicated in the June letter of the National City Bank, which makes a special study of this subject.

It deals with the March quarter of this year and excludes the earnings of the railroads and public utilities. It covers the reports of 300 companies in about 25 separate classifications. The total net profits of these corporations in the three months to March 31 this year, were $344,000,000 against $437,699,000 in the same period of 1929, representing a decrease of about 27 per cent. However, the dividend requirements of the 273 separate concerns making payments to shareholders were $265,000,000 or $78,000,000 more than the amount necessary to maintain the rates being distributed to owners of their stocks.

PROBE COLLISION OF PLANE AND TUG BOAT

San Francisco—(AP)—Two branches of the department of commerce began an investigation today of the collision between a San Francisco-Oakland air ferry and a tug boat in which two pilots and six passengers of the plane were injured, one man seriously, yesterday in the Oakland estuary.

Inspectors of the aeronautical division were to question George MacCullum, pilot and Fred Hammer, co-pilot of the plane, while the crew of the tug, which was towing two sand barges, prepared to go before federal steamboat inspectors.

Five of the plane's passengers were women, one of whom, Mrs. J. E. Hawley, 50, San Francisco, received a possible skull fracture and was suffering from hemorrhage of the brain. The others escaped with slight injuries.

The accident occurred shortly after the amphibian ferry left its pier in Oakland for the transbay trip. As it rose from a choppy sea and skimmed along the water at 70 miles an hour the tug boat with its tow suddenly loomed ahead. MacCullum made an attempt to gain altitude but a gust of wind dipped the left wing which struck the pilot house structure of the tug.

denda. The present quarter will include the action taken on practically all of the important copper producing companies, whose dividend policies have had to be adjusted to the sharp decline in the price of metal.

AVERAGE 28 PER CENT
In the classification made of industries, those that show the highest margin of surplus over dividend requirements in the March quarter represent amusements, chemicals, electrical equipment, food products, iron and steel, petroleum, printing and publishing, restaurant and machinery. The smallest margins are those of the automobile building materials, coal mining, paper products, non-ferrous mining and tobacco companies. The general average is expressed in the margin of 28 per cent over current dividends carried forward to surplus account in the three months period under review.

An interesting feature of the analysis made in the National City bank letter is of the amount of profits that normally come to a corporation in the different periods of the year. It is estimated that 24 per cent is derived out of the turn-over in the first quarter, while in the second quarter 25 per cent, or the largest in any three months period, is realized. The third quarter

SUNRISE IS STOLEN FROM CHICAGO ARTIST BY EVANSTON POLICE

Evanston, Ill.—(CP)—Unfortunately for Edwin Linehan, an artist, Joshua was not around yesterday to make the sun stand still.

Linehan came out from Chicago to paint an Evanston sunrise. Someone had told him the sun rose much later in Evanston than in Chicago. The artist set up his easel, poised his brush and gazed eagerly into the east. Behind him was his parked automobile. Promptly at the promised hour, the dawn came up. So did a policeman. He told the painter that the automobile was parked in such a manner as to violate some ordinance or other.

The policeman arrested Linehan. Meantime, there being no Joshua, the sun kept coming up. Linehan was at the police station. They detained him three hours, arranging bond. And the dawn kept coming up and up.

Finally it was all up. The policeman began humming something that sounded like the song, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise."

Linehan indicated that if the world was waiting for an Evanston sunrise, it would keep right on waiting.

producers 26 per cent of the total net profits and 22 per cent comes in the final quarter of the year.

While earnings in the March quarter showed a sharp decrease from those of 1929, they were 5 per cent ahead of the March quarter results of 1928. The fact has been quite definitely proven through a series of close studies of four or five hundred different companies that although the business of the country this year is off about 10 per cent from the level of 1929, it approximates that of 1928. In not a few instances, manufacturing and distributing companies are showing a higher volume of sales and of net profits this year than they did a year ago.

Skirts of fur-bearing land animals to the number of 297,448, and valued at more than $4,513,000, were exported in 1929.

MAJOR STYLE CHANGES SEEN IN NEW RADIO MODELS

Manufacturers, It Appears,
Have Worked Chiefly to Improve Tone

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Atlantic City—(CPA)—With striking embellishments in furniture and mechanical refinements designed to improve tonal quality, the coming year's styles in radio were presented at a full dress rehearsal here Monday before more than 30,000 dealers and listeners.

America's radio industry observed something revolutionary at the opening of the 1930 annual trade show, which inverted this seaside resort into the world's radio mecca. But it is only the first day of the show, and before the week is out, it is not unlikely that some of the manufacturers will reveal some of their closely guarded factory secrets.

Before these "middle-man" of radio, who have come from all parts of the country, some 250 radio manufacturers are parading the models which the industry will offer the public during the 1930-1931 season.
Here were new sets on display by several manufacturers. Other famous advertisements which identified well-known lines in past years were now-where to be seen—victims of the depressing period of overproduction of the fall.

DEALERS PASS JUDGMENT
These dealers and jobbers will pass judgment on the models of next year for the radio listener. Under the auspices of the Radio Manufacturers association they have convened here to view the products of the industry, "talk shop" generally, and place orders for fall delivery.
The public does not get to see these models until fall, coincident with the opening of the new radio season.
Here, radio shows are held throughout the country, with the local dealers displaying the models that they now are carefully appraising.

Evidently the entire industry, long with the newcomers in it, like General Motors, and Brunswick, which recently was acquired by Warner Brothers Motion picture producers, are relying upon tone quality to win over the public's purchasing affection. The remote control set, which can be tuned and controlled from any room in the house or apartment by the mere twisting of a dial, also is more in evidence than last year, when it was introduced.

The manufacturers are now convinced that no merchandising benefit is derived from radical technical inventions which throw the last year's models into obsolescence. New variety depths in reproduction within the

After the business meeting all visa sight-seeing tour through the city

Kohler.

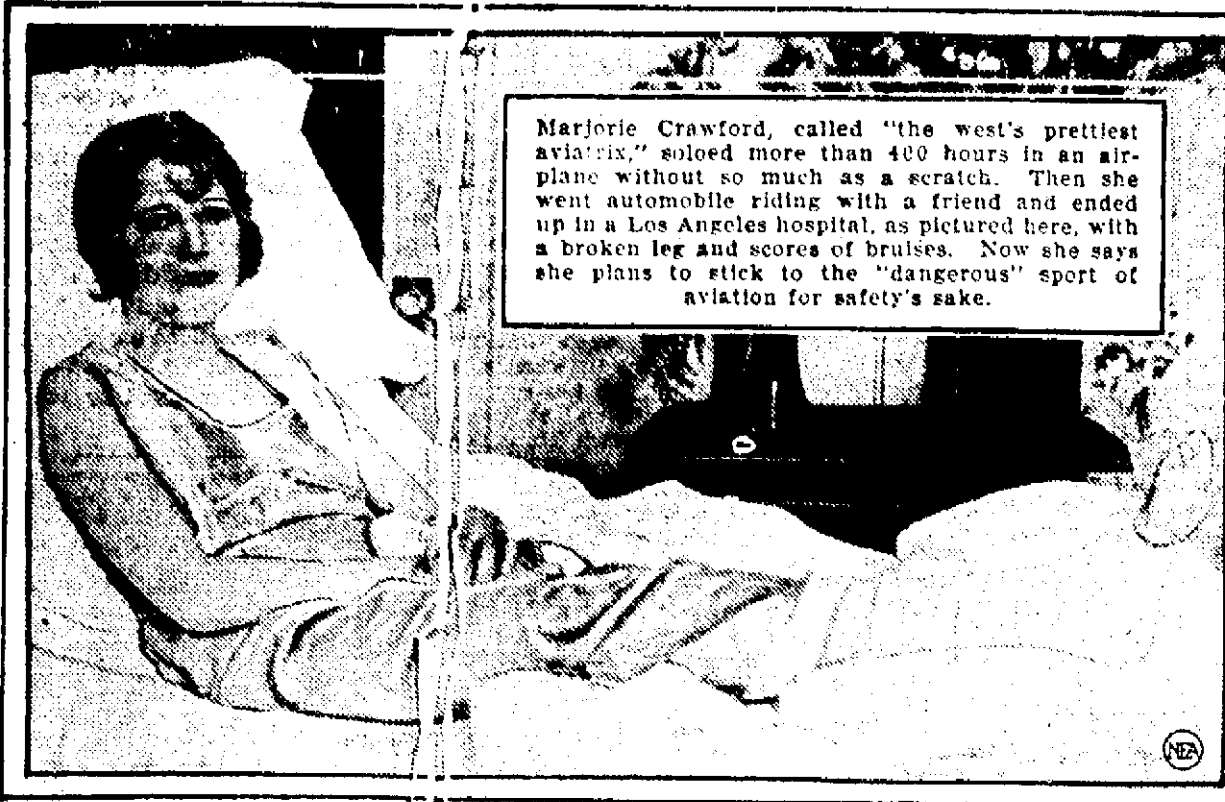

The convention banquet will take

Immediately after the banquet a home was the 1931 goal, which now apparently is rewarded with success.

There are television displays too.
These will be demonstrated at special sessions during the course of this show—the largest in radio's brief but significant history. Television is still viewed as a novelty by these serious-minded dealers, who look at radio from the cold-business point of view.

Price trends are definitely lower.
There is much speculation as to what the week will bring forth in the way of new developments. Atwater-Kent leaves the dealers completely mystified.

How To Shop

By William H. Baldwin

In handbags, good taste and novelty are more important than practicability, but the intelligent shopper wants good value as well.

The lining of the handbag is almost as important as the outer leather, for it is subjected to constant wear and strain. The most common lining is silk, particularly brocade taffetas, moires and satins.
Brocade wears well, as does a good quality satin. Taffeta tends to split if heavily weighted, as is frequently the case, and the watered finish of moire is easily damaged by moisture.

Frames should be sturdy. Solid gold is excellent, but expensive. Gold-filled tarnishes and the gold wears off; sterling silver is good and is easily polished when tarnished; silver plate turns color easily and does not polish well. Other workable frames are made of gun metal and tortoise shell or of wood or metal covered with the material of the bag.

TOMORROW: Trunks.

TROOP 4 SCOUTS CONSTRUCT CABIN

Boy scouts of Troop 4, American Legion, are constructing a large log cabin in the basement of Armory
(4) under the direction of Ted Frank, scoutmaster, according to M. G.
Clark, valley scout executive. The cabin, which will be portable, is to be erected at Erb park and will be used as a kitchen at the Camp O-Fall, June 14 and 15.

The textile industry is the only one of Equador's industrial enterprises that is flourishing.

YOUR BRAKES

Should be introduced to This Machine

WHEN this machine
meets your brake drums you will at last find brake efficiency. The Tru-Drum Lathe trues the drums, removes scores and grooves that chew linings and wear tires, and makes possible the perfect adjustment of your brakes. Driving safety and brake economy are yours
when we do your brake work.

In an executive it's Leadership

in a cigarette it's Taste

KNOWING WHAT TO DO—and doing it—that's what carries a man up . . . and a cigarette, too.

PUTTING FIRST THINGS FIRST—good taste, uniform quality, aroma, flavor—Chesterfield's popularity is built on knowing what smokers want . . .
and giving it unflinchingly.

TASTE—THAT'S THE ANSWER and that's what smokers get in Chesterfield in fullest measure—the flavor and aroma of mellow tobaccos, exactly blended and cross-blended, all to a single, satisfying end . . .
"TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

When LIFE is at STAKE!

Leadership

Firestone brought out
for automobile use:

- The first straight-side tire.
- The first rubber-gum-
skid tire.
- The first commercial dismountable rim.
- The first patented Gum-Dipping process.
- The first balloon tire.

Performance

Firestone Gum-Dipped
Tires

- hold all world's records on road and track
for safety, mileage,
speed and endurance.
- for ten consecutive years have won the 500-mile Indianapolis Endurance Race.
- were on winning cars
in Pike's Peak Race—where a slip meant death.
- were on the Studebaker car which on a board track at Atlantic City in 1926 went 30,000 miles in 26,32 1/2 minutes.
- ran 71,351 miles on a Detroit taxi cab before the first tire was replaced.
- were on the G. M. C. truck carrying a two-ton load that hung up the Coast-to-Coast endurance record.
- for 10 years have been sold on a mileage cost basis to taxi cabs and bus lines in greater volume than any other tires, and now equip the world's largest taxicab fleet and the world's longest bus line.

FOR ten consecutive years
all the winning cars in that classic of automobile racing, the Indianapolis 500 Mile endurance race, flashed across the finish line on Firestone Tires.

IN FACT every famous driver in these races used Firestone Tires. Every one of them for years has refused to use any other and the reasons behind their choice tell a story of Firestone Leadership.

THE Indianapolis
Race requires the most expert driving in the world. It is won or lost on the turns. The man who can make the turns at the highest speed is the man who wins. The track is of rough brick and bumpy. As the race progresses, it becomes soaked with oil and very slippery.

THESE men flirt
with death, but there is one chance they will not take. They will not take a chance with tires.

THESE drivers buy Firestone Tires. Their tires are not given to them by Firestone, much less are they paid to use them. And herein is the story.

MANY years ago,
Firestone did pay drivers to race.
The most famous of these drivers was Barney Oldfield and he painted on his car: "Firestone Tires Are My Only Life Insurance".

IN THE course of time Firestone withdrew from racing and the making of racing tires.
Then the trouble began. The leading drivers of the country said that it was Mr. Firestone's business whether or not he paid them to use his tires, but it was their business to judge the risks they would take. They would race on Firestone Tires, no matter what they cost, or they would not race at all. And so Firestone had again to make racing tires.

THE difference between a Firestone racing tire and the Firestone tire you can buy from your dealer lies only in the tread. The heat generated in a tire during a race is terrific. It is heat that causes most tires to fail. The ordinary road tread will burn up on a track, and so for it Firestone substitutes a harder, lighter tread which would be exceedingly uncomfortable on the road but which perfectly answers the track requirements.

THAT, however, is only a detail. The reason why Firestone Tires stand up in any race is to be found in their construction. The same construction that you get in any Firestone Tire.

IN ALL tires other than Firestone, the cotton cords which go to make up the carcass of the tire are merely imbedded in rubber. In the complex twisting and pulling of these cords in a tire in action, the fibers in the cords rub against one another. The friction generates heat and when the heat reaches a certain point the tire collapses.

IN THE Firestone
Tire, each of the millions of fine cotton fibers going to make up a cord is thoroughly insulated with rubber in the famous, patented Gum-Dipping process which is exclusive with Firestone. This reduces the friction in the cords and therefore reduces the heat and enables the Firestone Tire to perform normally under conditions where any other tire would collapse.

NO RACING car can be better than its tires. Neither can any other car. The racing drivers trust life and victory to Firestone Leadership. That same leadership is available to you at all Firestone Dealers.

UTILITIES SUBMIT EVIDENCE AT RATE HEARING IN CITY

State Commission Seeks to Determine Who Shall Service Village

Kaukauna—An adjourned hearing conducted by the Wisconsin Railroad commission for the Kaukauna municipal utility, the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, and the South Shore Utility company, was held in the council chambers in the municipal building Monday. The commission is seeking to determine which of the utilities has prior rights to serve the village of Combined Locks with electric power. When the first hearing on May 7 was adjourned by A. R. McDonald of the commission, it was to permit the Combined Locks Paper company to be represented at the adjourned hearing. This action was taken after the council for the South Shore company stated that rights of the paper company were taken over by the South Shore company. The Combined Locks Paper company was not represented at the adjourned hearing. This hindered the presentation of testimony by the attorneys for the South Shore Utility because Commissioner McDonald ruled that as the Paper company did not elect to be represented at the hearing, it could not be brought into the testimony. It was brought out at the hearing that the South Shore Utility company received a franchise from the village of Combined Locks to service the village on Jan. 10, 1929. The company, however, never started to build the line, and the village, according to J. A. Sullivan, village clerk, who appeared as a witness. The South Shore company was organized with a capital of $10,000, according to William Rounds of the Combined Locks Paper company, witness, who said that all but three shares are owned by the Paper company. Other witnesses called were Steve Canham, Malachi Ryan and Paul Loeschmidt, village clerk of Kaukauna. Canham told of the installation of several dynamos at the Combined Locks Paper mill about 1888. Ryan, president of the village of Combined Locks, told how the village invested about $13,000 in lines and poles to get electrical service from the mill. Loeschmidt was called upon to give testimony on the annexation of several pieces of property to the village of Kaukauna.

CLARIFY SERVICE RIGHTS
The South Shore Utility Co. claim ed rights to service the village on the grounds that it received those rights by taking over the servicing of the village with electricity from the paper mill. According to an agreement between the city of Kaukauna and the South Shore Utility company the city has charge of the reading of the meters for the company. At the present time all three utilities are furnishing some power in the village.

At the hearing on May 7 the Wisconsin Michigan Power company said that the first customer served in the town of Buchanan, in which the village of Combined Locks is located, was on May 5, 1917. It also produced a permit granted to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company's predecessor, Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company, by the town in 1912 to serve the town with electric service.

Heibert Weckwerth, head of the Kaukauna utility department, testified in the previous hearing for the city. He said that the city was serving customers in the town of Buchanan in 1912, at the time the city took over the Kaukauna Gas, Electric Light and Power company.

The hearing was called by the commission after the South Shore Utility company filed some notice with the commission for servicing the village of Combined Locks. At a hearing held between the Wisconsin Michigan Power company and the Kaukauna Municipal utility last year with the commission on the matter of an agreement on the division of territory in the town of Buchanan was made. The South Shore Utility company was not represented at the hearing, as the commission was unaware of its existence.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS BANK $650

Kaukauna—Maintaining a perfect record for banking every week of the school year, students of the junior high school closed their school banking for the term with $650 in the bank. This does not include withdrawals made during the year. Since October of 1928 the Junior high school has maintained the unusual record of banking every week of the school terms. The high school also has completed an entire school term with a perfect record.

Principal J. J. Haas of the Junior high school is urging the sixth and seventh grades to prepare to start banking in the fall in order to maintain the perfect record. In remarking on the record made by his students, Principal Haas stated that the pennies banked each week make a large total at the end of the year, and that parents should urge their children to learn the thrift habit.

CINCINNATI SURE IT HAS PLAN FOR MUNICIPAL RULE

Charter Organization, Backed by Businessmen, Developed There

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Cincinnati, O.—(CFA)—After putting its system to the test of change, Cincinnati is confident that it holds the formula for solving many of the perplexing problems of municipal rule which now trouble cities the country over.

This year has been a change of administration both in the office of mayor and that of city manager, yet without loss of confidence or of efficiency. When Col. C. O. Sherrill, who had years ago stepped out to accept a much more remunerative position with a grocery chain, there were some misgivings. But the new manager, Clarence A. Dykstra, a man with long experience in municipal affairs as a student and executive, is expected to start in where Colonel Sherrill left off.

Similarly, Murray Seasongood, the first mayor under the Cincinnati plan, has made way for a new mayor, Russell Wilson for 17 years associate editor of the Cincinnati Times Star. Mr. Seasongood, one of the city's leading lawyers, had figured prominently in the organization of the system. Mr. Wilson like Mr. Seasongood, had spent his life on the side direct participation in politics, yet both have come to the front under the plan of the "charter group," which overthrew the old type machine formerly in control of Cincinnati affairs.

MACHINE IS BROKEN

This machine is thoroughly broken. Two of its principals, George E. Cox, former saloon-keeper and Rud Hynceck, a lieutenant, are dead. The third leader, Gerry Hermann, one-time owner of the Cincinnati baseball team, is broken in health and fortune. In its place has developed the charter organization, led by businessmen, ordinary citizens and lawyers—not reformers necessarily, but interested in giving one hundred per cent worth of service and government for each dollar of tax money. "The system is healthier now than ever," explained Mayor Wilson. "It is demonstrative that its success is not dependent upon a single man or group of men."

"Something of the new method applied in city affairs may be seen from the way a new city manager was selected. Conferences lasted for three weeks and never during that time was there a mention of politics. The sole object was to get the best man available and to this day I do not know whether the man chosen is a Republican or a Democrat, a vet or a dilly."

"The secret of success for the city manager plan as worked out in Cincinnati lies in three things: "First, the city council is small—with nine members—and this council is elected from the city at large and not by wards."

The result was the choice of men of standing well known to the entire city and responsible to all voters under proportional representation.

"Second, there has been a political organization, thoroughly efficient, which has as its object the maintenance of the principles of this type of municipal government. While not primarily politicians, the leaders of this charter group of party, have beaten the old machine and have won three elections, with six out of nine council members. "Third, there are council elections each two years. These elections are frequent enough to insure continued interest of the men responsible for maintaining the organization."

The frequent lack of complete success with the principles of this type of municipal rule is attributed to the failure of citizens to set up a political organization charged to protect their interests first of all—a defect that Cincinnati remedied at the start.

4 PUPILS GET FREE WASHINGTON TRIP

Honored Students Are Selected This Week by Kaukauna Teachers

Kaukauna—Four eighth grade students have been selected by teachers in the various schools for a free trip to Washington next week, the expense being paid by four local organizations. The students, chosen by merit of their scholastic work, are: Junior high school, Miss Margaret Hoehne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoehne, 920 Grignon-st.; Holy Cross school, Miss Genevieve Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Burns, Wisconsin-ave.; Trinity Lutheran school, Miss Gertrude Grebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grebe, Depot-st.; and St. Mary's school, James Schermittler, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Schermittler, 516 Boyd-ave.

The local organizations that will pay the expense of the students to Washington are the Kaukauna Rotary club, the Kaukauna post American Legion, Knights of Columbus and Masons.

A large number of other eighth grade students from the various schools in the city will make the trip to Washington next week with 1,400 persons from this county. The expenses of the trip, including everything except the meals, are $25. Those making the trip are expected to carry their lunch while enroute to that city.

The trip will take four days, starting at 7:30 on the morning of June 11 at Appleton. Arrangements for the trip have been made under the direction of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, originator of the idea.

Of Interest To Farmers

TIMOTHY, CORN, PEAS, PASTURES, NIPPED BY FROST

Sugar Beets and Small Grains Appear to Be Recovering from Injury

W. F. WINSEY
Hilbert—Corn, canning peas, timothy and June grass pastures, in the fields about here are very badly frosted. While sugar beets and small grain were frosted to some extent and set back they appear to be recovering quite rapidly. Except in an occasional field where a farmer was sufficiently provident to raise a crop of sweet clover, cattle are finding very little pasture. The early drought prevented the timothy and June grass pastures from growing. Early grazing and frosts have nearly wiped them out and left the fields bare. The wood lots and lowland pastures are in as bad shape as are the timothy and June grass fields. Alsike and red clovers were frosted beyond repair and hay fields excepting alfalfa and sweet clover are covered with a thick frost.

Corn from two to three inches tall has turned yellow and is now rotting from the roots upward. Many of the farmers were replanting their fields on Saturday and a great many more will begin replanting on Monday. A number of cornfields have been dug and cultivated to keep down weeds and to revive the frosted corn.

The most seriously frosted canning peas are decaying from the roots upward and although the vines have improved somewhat in color they are very sickly. The yields of the pea fields in this section are estimated at 50 per cent of normal or less.

As large herds of cattle are on the timothy and June grass pastures and it is difficult to give the pasture a chance to grow by shifting the herds from one pasture to another, the hay shortage, and the June flush of milk will not show up this season.

In contrast with the timothy and June grass shortage of pasture, herds on sweet clover pasture are wading in an abundance of the greatest milk-producing pasture known and are filling up in a few minutes.

TIMOTHY IS LIGHT

While timothy will yield only about one to one and one-half tons per acre, the few fields of pure alfalfa in sight will yield at least four tons of hay per acre. The yields of red clover and alsike clover will be very light even if the fields recover. While each cow should be provided with an acre of sweet clover pasture and with a half acre of pure alfalfa, the entire herds in parts of Calumet, Brown, and Winnebago counties are not provided with those average acreages. To get a total of one acre of sweet clover for each herd in these counties, and one-half acre of sweet clover, the entire herds would be forced to count all fields of pure alfalfa and sweet clover, all the fields in which timothy and June grass predominate, and all the fields showing only spears of alfalfa or sweet clover at wide intervals.

Permanent pastures will always be with us and will always be used but the time is here when no farmer can take the risk of having no sweet clover nor alfalfa to carry his cattle through frosts and droughts. The time is here when no timothy nor June grass farmer can do economical dairying nor compete with sweet clover and alfalfa farmers.

Peter Deinschawel, route 1, has 6 acres of the best stand of canning peas in this vicinity. The vines show no frost injury and are quite tall. His pasture is short and he is considering giving it a rest and chance to revive by turning his cattle into a four acre field of thrifty alfalfa.

Albert Lemke, route 1, always raises acres of alfalfa and sweet clover for his herd and consequently is not cramped at all for pasture and hay in the present general emergency.

CAN'T REVIVE CORN

Henry Jasen, route 3, after trying to revive a 16 acre field of corn that was frosted gave up and on Saturday bought seed to replant the field. He says there is no use leaving the frozen cornfields any longer and the thing to do is to replant them as soon as possible. Corn and peas that were frosted are rotting and dying from the roots up said Mr. Jasen. He can not see a good crop of peas ahead in this vicinity for the coming summer harvest.

The corn of Joseph Eder, route 3, was frozen and his 4 acres of canning peas also. His pastures were quite badly injured. To give his timothy and June grass pastures a start he shifted his herd to a field of sweet clover. Soon after he made the change he noticed a large increase in the milk flow.

Charles Zick, Forest Jct., is pasturing his cattle on sweet clover and they are getting an abundance of feed. He has all the alfalfa he will need for hay.

Sam Krueger, Forest Jct., has provided 10 acres of sweet clover pasture for his cattle, 8 acres of pure alfalfa and 10 acres of mixed alfalfa. As all of the fields are doing well, he will have all the hay and pasture his herd needs. His late canning peas were not injured to any great extent.

As emergency pasture, sweet clover may be still planted with a nurse crop of early oats. After pasturing the crop quite late this season the sweet clover will show up next spring for pasture.

The best emergency crop for hay is soybeans planted solid with a drill on a fine seed bed at the rate of two bushels per acre. The beans may be planted when the ground gets warm or from June 1 to June 15. A good crop of soybeans yields from two to three tons of hay per acre, almost the equal of the best alfalfa hay.

NEIGHBORS HELP TO REBUILD BARN

Hilbert Farmer Replacing Structure Destroyed in Recent Wind Storm

Hilbert—With the help of his neighbors and seven carpenters, under the supervision of Joseph Wagner, Chilton, Henry Jasen, route 2, will complete a new barn only next week on the site of an old barn blown down by the recent cyclone.

The day after the insurance adjustments were made, 18 of Mr. Jasen's neighbors came to his farm and in two days gathered up the debris, graded it and piled it in the yard. Mr. Wagner set up a circular saw in the yard near the lumber piles and cut the salvaged timbers and boards in lengths suitable for use in the new barn.

Sixty-eight of Mr. Jasen's neighbors helped in raising the building, and shingling the new barn and finishing these jobs in record breaking time.

The new barn is of the hip roof type, 42 by 100 feet and when completed will be roofed in every particular. It has taken Mr. Jasen just two weeks to collect the scattered pieces and to complete his new barn.

Herman Hertz, route 1, is building a new frame house of the bungalow type, 32 by 14 feet. He is erecting blocks in the walls of the basement.

The new building will be provided with running water, bath room and electric heat. He expects to complete the building in September.

Frank Binsfeld, route 1, Brillen, is building a hip roof barn on his farm 10 by 70 feet. The barn is in ground and workmen were roofing the building with non late last week.

TINY HATS SOUGHT FOR FORMAL WEAR

New, Fascinating Toque of Black Hair Lace, Satin Is Offered

New York—(CFA)—Tiny, snug hats are as chic for the Parisian viewpoint as present as the hats of widespread brims, that is, for formal wear. Andree has a fascinating toque of black hair lace and black satin. The hair lace comes over the forehead in snugs, smooth scallops somewhat as the womanly hair of 1830 used to do.

In London, the extremely smart women are wearing long evening gloves of a distinctly different color than the evening gown. For example, a flesh-colored chiffon gown has evening gloves—more than elbow length—of pastel blue, while a black gown has gloves of pastel green. There may be a necklace to match the gloves, if you wish.

Several of the spring hostess shades have a metallic cast. There is a lovely silvery gray, beautifully suited to the new blues. There is a brown with a golden sheen, just right for the drier tints of brown and yellow. And there is a summet with a bronze cast that goes with almost everything except white.

STEVENS POINT PLANS HOMECOMING PROGRAM

Stevens Point—(AP)—A week's homecoming celebration is being planned for Stevens Point by a committee headed by W. F. Collins. Invitations are being sent to former residents in all parts of the world, to return for the period beginning June 22 and closing July 5. Reunions of school societies, all kinds of local groups, gatherings at which slides and moving pictures of early scenes are to be shown, are in the program. Governor Walter J. Kohler has been invited to deliver an address on one of the days.

THIS EXPERIMENT with New Iso-Vis Motor Oil is rather amazing. But it certainly convinces those who see it that New Iso-Vis has exactly as heavy a body when it is drained from the crankcase as when it is poured in.

WE WISH that every car owner might actually see this laboratory experiment with New Iso-Vis Motor Oil. This is what happens:

A motor car is driven for hundreds of miles with New Iso-Vis in the crankcase. The oil is then drained off, taken to the laboratory and passed through a special laboratory filter which removes the dirt.

As the cleaned oil seeps through the filter, you realize the surprising fact that it is actually as oily and heavy as the day it was put in the crankcase. It has not been worn out by all those hundreds of miles of driving.

New Iso-Vis is an advance in motor lubrication. It is the only motor oil that will not thin out in the crankcase. This means an entirely new freedom from lubrication worries... less wear on every moving part of the engine... fewer repair bills.

Naturally, you should change New Iso-Vis with normal frequency because of the road dust and dirt that always accumulate in the crankcase. With New Iso-Vis, however, you may be sure that thinned out, diluted oil will not endanger your motor.

Another important quality of New Iso-Vis is that it deposits less carbon—at least 50% less than many of the better grade oils. Also it works better at extremes of temperature. It stands up under the most intense heat your engine will develop, yet lubricates effectively in cold weather.

Give your engine the added protection of this new type oil. You can get New Iso-Vis from any Standard Oil dealer or service station.

A FORD DEALER in Southern Michigan tried out New Iso-Vis and gives you this report. New Iso-Vis maintained the same body from the time it was put in the crankcase until it was finally drained off.

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH

Chapter 20
A DEVIL INHABITS LUM WE

My inclination was to find Car-one, but a sense of duty kept me at Fluke's side.
Before I could reply a slight noise fell on my ear and I swung around.
I was just in time. Lum We was hurting out of the doorway, a butcher green and his objective was Fluke's plump shoulders.

I hit him on the chin with a powerful right drive and he dropped at my feet. He was no bigger than a boy.

"Thank you, my friend," Fluke gasped. "My little victory made me forget that he would come. It would have been most disagreeable, that knife."

"Grainger must have told him,"
I said.
"Did I not intend him to?" Fluke inquired.

"You wanted him to commit himself—is that it?" I exclaimed. "Well, he's done so. Do you still believe he did not kill Parados?"

"And why should I change my mind?" Fluke inquired, frowning at his hands. "The murder was—um—premeditated. This would have been the crime of passion. There is a difference. But here is M. Samuels."

The deputy entered the room.
"What's all this?" he demanded.
Fluke showed him the remains of the ancestral tablet and explained what had happened.

"And so," Fluke finished, "had it not been for the good light arm of M. l'Antiquaire you would have had another trouble on your hand."

"I saw him streaking across the lawn with that knife," Samuels muttered. "Get up!" He prodded Lum
We in the ribs. The Chinaman climbed slowly to his feet, blinking in the sunlight.

"What have you got to say for yourself?" Samuels demanded stein-ly.

Apparently Samuels was convinced that Lum We had killed his master.
Lum We bowed. "I am profoundly regretful, Mr. Samuels," he said, guileless of tone and expression. "I beseech the forgiveness of Mr. Fluke and to Mr. Hunt. I extend my admiration."

"Why did you attack Fluke?"
"The hut of a poor man is the temple of his ancestors," he explained.

"You objected to him being here?"
"Mr. Fluke perfumes the air with his goodness," Lum We continued, and his eyes came to rest uneasily on the lacquer box, "but the spirit of my father has walked on slender swords—and a devil invaded me—"

"Who broke your ancestral tablet?" Samuels interrupted.
"Mr. Parados," Lum We replied.
"Because you burned incense to your father's spirit, when he had forgotten you?"

Lum We bowed. "Mr. Samuels has dipped his tongue in the ornament of understanding."
"So you stole the phoenix?"
"It was his god," Lum We said simply, "and he had polluted the spirit of my father."
"You broke it and returned it?"
"He had extinguished the tablet of my father's spirit."

Samuels leaped forward and caught Lum We by the wrists.
"You stole the phoenix—you killed Parados then you got scared and returned the phoenix broken. You might as well come through."
Metal flashed in the sunlight and Lum We was handcuffed. Fluke was smiling ironically.
Lum We retained his composure.
"Mr. Samuels is perpetrating an error," he observed blandly. "I did not exterminate Mr. Parados. He put a devil in me, but I contented it with breaking his god. That was enough." Lum We stated his philosophy in those three words.
Samuels had dragged the Chanaman nearly to the door when Fluke spoke.
"M. le Deputy, you are certain this man killed monsieur?"
"You've heard his story haven't you?" Samuels demanded wrathfully.
"He tried to take your life and he's admitted that he stole and broke the phoenix. What more do you want?"

Is Samuels right about Lum We?
Fluke changes the deputy's mind tomorrow.

Old Fashioned First Mortgage Type Is Becoming Most Popular

New York (AP)—Mr. Private Investor is a relatively unimportant figure in the bond market, but his orders may be taken as a barometer of investment tastes. Today he wants only the best bonds.

A year ago it was hard to sell him a bond unless it carried a conversion privilege. He is still interested in that type of security, but a plain old-fashioned first mortgage attracts him even more.

The stronger bond market of the last two or three weeks has been made possible, in part, by the demands of individual investors whose slogan is "safety first."

Investment houses report that new issues of the highest grades meet a ready reception; those of less merit are inclined to drag.

In the mounting daily volume of bond sales on the New York stock exchange is lumped a surprisingly large total of small purchases by these individuals. A year ago they—as a group—were borrowing money to buy stocks. Today they are saving money and buying bonds.

The bulk of the market's business comes, of course, from the banks, insurance companies and trust funds. The commercial banks hold about $16,000,000,000 in coupon-bearing securities.

100 VALLEY SCOUTS
REGISTER FOR CAMPS

One hundred valley council boy scouts have registered for camp periods at the two camps to be conducted by the council this summer at Chigago on Lake Winnebago and on Florence lake in the north woods, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Forty-two youngsters will spend the 10 day period from Aug. 3 to 14 in the north woods camp, while 57 registered for Chigago. It is expected the original camp schedule for the Lake Winnebago camp will be cut short one week to permit more scouts to attend an additional week in the north woods.

Talks To Parents

TALKING TO THE BABY
BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

A certain trained nurse who has been very successful with children feels that the good dispositions and the cheerful, friendly personalities of the babies which she has had under her care were in part at least due to the fact that she made it a point to protect them from grownups who would have brought into the nursery an atmosphere of hurry, nervous tension, or distress. Babies are extremely sensitive to voices. Anyone who has watched a baby in his cradle knows how he responds to tones of the voice. The happy, gentle voice makes him smile and perhaps attempt a response. The sharp, high pitched voice makes him knit his brows with a look of perplexed disturbance. The loud violent voice may even make him cry.

Long before the baby understands the language of words he understands that of emotions as expressed in the voices that surround him. A baby's feeling of comfort and security is more affected than we realize by the fact that this quality in his environment is so much expressed in the voices of those about him, not only when they talk to him but to each other. Surely infancy is a time which should be especially happy and troubled as little as possible by the difficulties and annoyances that hazy the existences of grownups.

For this reason, if for no other, the baby should have a room himself. Those who enter it must divest themselves first of everything which is fretful, sharp or unhappy in their moods. When they speak to him it should be in the quiet, pleasant voice that inspires trust and serenity.

Ready for Non-Stop Refueling Flight

Ready to blaze the first non-stop air trail between the United States and South America, the three flyers of the monoplane "K of New Haven" are pictured at the right at Hartford, Conn., as they studied a map of their proposed 8400-mile route to Buenos Aires. Left to right are Lieut. Commander George R. Pond, Lieut. Garland P. Reed, Jr. and Capt. Herbert G. Patridge. Above is their huge cabin craft, which they intend to have refueled in the air at four points along the route.

CORN YIELD HIGHER IN STATE IN PAST DECADE

Madison (AP)—The average corn yield in Wisconsin for the past 10 years was 39.2 bushels per acre or 12 bushels more than the average of any other 10-year period, the Wisconsin and United States Departments of Agriculture announced today.

In the period 1870 to 1879 the state's average yield per acre of corn dropped from 33 bushels to 27. Since then each succeeding ten-year period has seen an increase over the previous period as follows: 1880 to 1889 increase of 3.6 bushels; 1890 to 1899 over 2 bushels; 1910 to 1919 over 4 bushels; and from 1920 to 1929 the increase over the former ten-year period was 2 bushels.

The lowest state average since 1866 was 20.7 bushels per acre in 1874 and the highest was 48.5 bushels in 1925. In the last sixty-four years Wisconsin's average yields have been at least 30 bushels per acre in forty-one seasons and well over 30 most of that time.

"Areas devoted to corn in Wisconsin was only 352,671 acres in 1866," the department's report said. "In 1870 it had increased to 734,111 acres in 1886 and the gradual spread of the crop continued until the high point of 2,233,000 acres was reached in 1923."

"The state's corn crop is first in importance from the standpoint of acreage in twelve of the seventy-one counties of Wisconsin, second in eight counties and third in thirty-six. Only the two crops of clover and timothy hay and oats are more important than corn on the basis of total crop acreage planted to them."

"More than 45 per cent of Wisconsin's total crop acreage is planted for the purpose of filling country silos. No other state uses such a large proportion of its corn crop for silage."

YEARBOOK HONORS
12 U. W. ALUMNI

11 Men and 1 Woman to Take Places in Badger's
Hall of Fame

Madison (AP)—Twelve alumni, eleven men and one woman, of the University of Wisconsin will occupy places in the hall of fame of the Badger school yearbook, when it is published this spring.

Two of them are in the motion picture world—one as an actor, the other as an executive. Frederic March, 20, formerly of Racine, is now a featured player in the motion picture field. His first theatrical experience was gained in the company of the New York Theatre Guild. Clark Gable, 35, who grew up in Madison, is sound director for a large producing company.

An adventurer, who is a radio expert, also receives a place in the hall. He is Malcolm Hanson, ex 21, Washington. Hanson, who was one of the pioneer workers at WIA, university radio station, has recently returned from the Antarctic where he was the radio expert with the Byrd expedition. He also served in polar regions with the McMillan expedition in 1925, and with the Wilkins and Byrd-Bennett parties the following year.

Among the educators to be in the section are Lawrence W. Murphy, 21, head of the University of Illinois department of journalism, and Dr. George Works, 40, president of the Connecticut State College of Agriculture, Storrs, Conn.

Justices Chester Fowler, 50, and Oscar M. Fritz, 41, both of the Wisconsin supreme court, are honored as members of the judiciary, with two more state employees, George T. Hambrecht, 29, head of the vocational education division, and a Lincoln University graduate, Mrs. Charles Matney, 27, who is the only woman honored. With her husband, Mrs. Matney has published the Wisconsin Educational Library. She still is in the work, and also has been prominent in the League of Women Voters.

C. P. Norcross, 36, Albany, N. Y., assistant commissioner of agriculture, and William L. New York state, Gilbert T. Hodge, 34, New York, former attorney and now prominent in advertising circles, and the Hon. Frank J. Chase, 39, who died recently at his home in New York, an internationally known financier are others to be in the section.

HOG SPECIALISTS FROM

Madison (AP)—A delegation of hog specialists from the Soviet Union of Russia will arrive in Wisconsin about June 16 to visit the college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin and leading hog farms about the state, college officials announced today. While in Wisconsin the commission will go to Grant, Dane and Columbia counties to see hog farms representative of the various breeds.

Financial And Market News

BEARISH EFFORT TO WEAKEN MART IS UNSUCCESSFUL

List Turns Heavy but Trading Remains Dull and Losses Are Negligent

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York.—(AP)—The bulls, having failed to stir up any activity in the stock market of late, left the field to the Bears today, but they made even a worse showing. Practically the entire list turned heavy, but despite rather aggressive bearish operations in spots, most losses were limited to a point or two, and during the early hours of the session, trading was in the lightest volume since August, 1928, with the lone exception of Jan. 13, last.

With practically the entire financial community now looking with some confidence for a decided revival of business by autumn, and the market already fairly well deflated, the bears found themselves unable to start and general liquidation, although a substantial amount of selling appeared from traders who had grown discouraged with the market's sluggishness. A substantial portion of the day's business appeared to be transactions by floor traders for their own account.

Although news was rather meagre, such favorable developments as came to hand were ignored. The decision of the supreme court, denying the interstate commerce commission authority to impose freight rates under the Hook Smith resolution, which might be confiscatory, failed to cause a flutter in the rail stocks, although in some circles this decision in rated close to that in the St. Louis and O'Fallon cases.

RAILROADS SALES UP

The department of commerce estimated sales of radio equipment for the years at $645,000,000 against $590,000,000 in 1929, but the radio shares generally sagged. Utility shares were neglected.

Credit rates remained stationary, and call and time money were unusually dull, but bankers acceptances and commercial paper were fairly active. The weekly condition statement of federal reserve showed a drop of $61,000,000 in commercial loans, but an unexpectedly large increase of $99,000,000 in loans on securities.

Stock market activity, and it was felt in some circles that it may indicate loans against new bonds which are being held off the market until after the reparation loan is floated.

A few shares sagged about 4 points or more, including Auburn, Ingersoll Rand, Canadian Pacific, Air Reduction, and American Tobacco B. Continental Baking issues were weak features, reaching new lows for the year. Curtiss Wright also sagged a little to record a new 100 low. Such issues as U. S. Steel, Radio, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, and General Electric lost a point or two. McKesson's Tipitapa was again a strong feature, rising about 3 points to a new high for the year. Colorado Fuel and Republic Steel continued to meet good demand, and there was special buying in the Armour issues. Amerasia rose a couple of points, reflecting merger gossip.

The late market was subjected to a steady drizzle of selling orders that ultimately forced U. S. Steel down more than 2 points, Johns-Manville 4 and Worthington Jump 4. J. I. Case snapped back several points from its forenoon low of 26 1/2. The close was heavy. Sales approximated 1,650,000 shares.

HEAVY STEERS REMAIN STEADY

Heavy Runs Fail to Effect Prices in This Class; Main-tain Gains

Chicago.—(AP)—Heavy steers escaped the effect of liberal supplies of cattle today at the 11 markets, and sold on shipping account readily at steady prices with the advance of the day before. This broadened shipper demand was a life-saver for the heavy steer market, as local flocks of killers were not yet in the market because of Jewish holidays. The 11 markets had $9,500 cattle today against 50,900 a week ago. Omaha had a run of 10,000, which was larger than Chicago's 8,000.

Daily sales of hogs were steady at $10.35 to $10.45 for lights and $11.15 to $10.25 for weighty butchers, on the strength of a fall in receipts that was surprising. The 11 major markets had 94,400, against 103,700 last Tuesday and with packers taking 7,000 out of the total of 25,000 at Chicago, there was relatively little on sale in the competitive market.

With reports that the dressed lamb and mutton markets were strong to $2.00 higher at all the important centers, prices in the live lamb market tended stronger at the outset today. Bulk of the run was of native and west coast new crop lambs that have set the top for several days, at $13.50.

WHEAT ADVANCES WITH REPORT OF DAMAGE TO CROP

Decrease in Available World Supply Also Helps Up-turn

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago.—(AP)—Wheat advanced today toward the last owing largely to reported renewal of high winds causing crop damage on the Canadian prairie lands. Winnipeg elevator interests figured the condition of Saskatchewan wheat as 89, against 84 a week ago and there were advances of dust storms also in North Dakota and northwest Minnesota.

The world's available supply of wheat was announced as showing 9,372,000 bu decrease in the last week, reducing the total stock to within 3,402,000 bu of the aggregate at this time last year.

June forecasts of private crop authorities here put the probable total yield of United States winter wheat this season at 544,000,000 bu., compared with 543,000,000 bu., the average unofficial estimate a month ago and with the government's May estimate of 525,000,000 bu., however, the increase was not as large as anticipated and rallies resulted from buying ascribed to sources northward. The rallies, though, failed to hold.

Some decrease of spring wheat acreage both in Canada and the United States was reported unofficially.

Corn showed independent strength. December however turned easy later owing to favorable weather for field work and because of reports suggesting an increase of 3.1 to 3.5 per cent in acreage. Oats were responsive to the action of corn.

Most deliveries of provisions were higher, with cash interests taking July lead.

CURB STOCKS DULL WITH LITTLE TRADE

Attempt Is Made to Push Oils but It Ends With Dullness at Noon

New York.—(AP)—The indifference of professional traders, as well as the public kept curb stocks within a narrow price range today. Aside from moderate moves in a few specialties and industrials, the market was without feature.

Oils were taken with a half-hearted show of activity in the earlier dealings but the demand slackened as the noon hour passed. Humble sold up a point and Vacuum improved by a major fraction but surrendered its advance. The Standard and Cities Service were barely steady.

Profit taking in Electric Bond and Share, which reported earnings at the rate of $1.34 a share for the twelve months ended March 31, depressed the stock fractionally to around 107 but it was well supported at the lower level.

Northern States Power met sufficient demand to effect a 2 point rise, while Consolidated Gas of Baltimore improved to a lesser extent.

Ford Motor of Canada "B" and Technicolor were both under pressure. There was a renewal of bear selling in Deere with a resultant loss of a couple of points. Todd Shipyards likewise established a peak price.

Transamerica, Goldman Sachs and United Founders eased slightly. Call money renewed at 3 1/2 per cent.

Action Of Whirling Gears Visible With Radio Waves

Pittsburg.—(AP)—Radio waves traveling at nearly the speed of light reveal to the eye what happens in the blur of whirling machinery.

An airplane propeller blade moving at top speed, so fast that it is all but invisible to the eye, appears to stop and stand still when the new radio lights are turned on.

If the speed is sufficient, the tip of the blade may be seen to elongate under the pull of centrifugal force.

When the lights are directed upon moving belts and gears, these objects appear to stand still, except for slowly withering motions which reveal slipping and imperfections of action.

The radio waves are produced by tubes in an apparatus the size of a suitcase. They flash lights on and off with changes of speed formerly impossible.

For looking over an airplane propeller the lights flash on for about three ten-millionths of a second. The result is to light the blade once in a revolution, and always in precisely the same position. To the eye the effect is that of looking upon a stationary blade.

The flashes synchronize with the speed of motion of the object under observation. They may be geared also either faster or slower so that a propeller appears to be rotating slowly, either backward or forward.

The apparatus has existed previously as an immobile laboratory equipment. The new portable style was developed to enable army and engineers to take it to their machines for a ready look-see. Darkness is the only external requirement.

The device is called the stroboscopic light and was developed by three young Westinghouse engineers, D. D. Knowles, L. R. Peters and W. E. Babbles.

LUMBER SHIPPERS WIN RATE BATTLE

New Terms Proposed by Ann Arbor Railroad Canceled by Commission

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—Wisconsin lumber shippers have won their fight against canceled and increased lumber rates proposed by the Ann Arbor Railroad and scheduled to go into effect in August. The Interstate Commerce Commission has canceled the new rates.

The rates in question applied particularly from Kewauune and Manitowish and nearby points in Wisconsin and points in the upper peninsula of Michigan to Central Freight Association destinations.

The present rates, which the railroad considers "obsolete," divide the Wisconsin and Michigan origin points into three groups, with those falling in groups 2 and 3 specifically named and all unnamed points coming in group 1. Group one has slightly lower rates than the others. The tariff proposed by the railroad and now dismissed by the Commission, re-grouped these origin points, and specifically placed each city in one of the three groups.

The tariff was originally to go into effect on January 23, 1930, but the I. C. C. received so many protests from Wisconsin and Michigan shippers that it postponed it until August 23, and considered the rates more closely. The shippers fought the new tariff on the grounds of the increase in rates which would result and which would be disastrous because of the keen competition to be met. The railroad denied that there would be a general increase, though they could not overlook the definitely planned increases from specific cities.

The railroad cited "inconsistent grouping" in the present rate arrangement. For instance, Rhinelander falls in the unnamed or number one group, with Malvern and Pence, Wis., on either side of it, in the higher group two. Likewise, Shawano is unnamed and, therefore, in group one, while nearby Cecil and Belleplaine are in group three.

The tariff proposed by the railroad was found "not justified" by the Commission and the suspended schedules were ordered canceled and proceedings discontinued.

Most of the protesting Wisconsin shippers approved the present rates. The Sawyer Goodman company of Marinette proposed a regrouping of origin points, very different from the railroads, if the Commission felt a change necessary. The Marinette company's grouping placed Appleton and Green Bay in group one, with the lowest rates.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR SHAWANO HOSPITAL

Plans and sketches for the new Shawano Municipal hospital are almost finished and will be ready for inspection by June 15, according to George Smith of Smith and Brandt, local architects, who were chosen recently as the designing architects for the new structure. The building when completed will cost approximately $75,000.

More Gardeners Turning To Sweet Corn Every Year

Growing sweet corn in the home garden is on the increase as the true facts concerning the evanescent quality of the sweetness of sweet corn becomes known. This cannot be preserved in the market and for this reason market sweet corn is seldom if ever as sweet as the fresh picked vegetable.

Each year sees new varieties of sweet corn, the chief improvement in which is earliness and sugar content. The use of Golden Bantam as breeding stock, transmitting the sugary quality and yellow color of the kernels to cobs of larger size and growth has been the basis of a number of new varieties. Sixty-day cobs are now offered, the 60 days referring to the time between germination and the day the first picking ears are ready for use.

One of these 60-day cobs, Golden 60-day, is a Golden Bantam hybrid. The 60-day white has become a favorite with market gardeners in many sections because of its earliness, sizeable cobs and attractive quality which makes it a quick seller.

Mammoth White Cory is another popular corn for its earliness. Stowell's Evergreen and Country Gentleman are old-time staples for the main season crop and are hard to beat in quality and size of cob.

Sweet corn is harder than field corn and may be sown earlier. When the farmer starts corn planting, sweet corn in the garden ought to be out of the ground for the early crop and the main and late crops will be going in.

The Black Mexican or calico corn with dark purple kernels is an old favorite for its earliness and sugary flavor. The color is against it with those untampered with it. To those who know it and are familiar with the dark kernels it is a garden standby. There are specially selected strains of this black corn which are well worth a trial in the garden.

Get the soil well plowed or spaded with plenty of fertilizer ready for the sweet corn. Mellow soil, warmth and plenty of food are the prescription for quality sweet corn. Anybody can have it that will take the trouble.

CONDUCT BALLOT ON ROAD SYSTEM

Referendum on Four Questions Distributed by Chamber of Commerce

Madison—(P)—A referendum ballot on four questions regarding the state highway system have been sent to persons throughout the state by the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce.

Questions asked on the ballots, calling for "Yes" or "No" answers are as follows:

1. Do you favor building and maintaining of highways by the state?
2. Do you favor changing the Wisconsin law to meet the federal provision that states build and maintain federal highways so that we may obtain the federal appropriation of $3,000,000 yearly for each of three years?
3. Do you favor an increased gasoline tax to provide the state with funds to build and maintain state and federal highways?
4. Do you pledge your cooperation to a campaign in favor of a state and federal system of highways largely built and maintained by a gas tax?

The circular sent with the ballots lists two arguments against the increased gas tax, and four in its favor.

Since Wisconsin can not have a state bond issue for roads, state money for the building of roads must be obtained from one of the three forms of vehicle tax commonly employed, the circular said.

A raising of the property tax is out of the question, and we already have a registration and license fee tax which ranks among the highest in the states so that this form of tax is also out of the question, leaving only a gasoline tax by means of which the state can obtain the funds to build a state and federal system of all-weather, hard-surfaced roads for Wisconsin.

Roads probably are more important to us than is any road tax making them possible, providing it is a fair and equitable tax. There is, therefore, given here a summary of reasons for and against the gas tax that you may determine for yourself the reasonableness and equitableness of such a tax.

SCIENCE ENCOURAGES EGG LAYING RECORDS

Madison—(P)—Although science has been unable to produce synthetic eggs it is doing the next best thing by making the hen fill the egg basket at a rate believed impossible several years ago.

Recent tests in poultry nutrition, according to J. G. Halpin, poultryman at the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, are pointing the way to substantial savings in egg production costs. The use of irradiated yeast as a source of vitamin D to prevent leg weakness, the use of linseed meal as a protein supplement and glass walled poultry houses are helping fill egg baskets, Halpin said.
